Arson suspected as blaze destroys lodge

Two people injured, damage $250,000

By HAMISH GORDON
Staff Reporter

"A flash, a ball of fire and then a streak of flames 12 inches wide" travelling down the length of the front porch of the Pine Ridge Lodge on Gull Lake woke three-months pregnant Jo-Anne Ecclestone at 3:30 a.m. last Thursday in her house adjacent to the lodge. That was the beginning of the end of months of hard work and a quarter of a million dollar investment on which Tom Ecclestone and his partner Steve Lacey had staked their future.

Volunteer firemen from the Minden Fire Department fought the blaze for two and a half hours, but the two storey, 4,000 square meter lodge was reduced to a smouldering mound of charred timbers, leaving two people with minor injuries. Eight other staff and guests of the lodge escaped injury wearing the only clothes they could grab within seconds.

Arson is suspected by the Minden Fire Department, which answered the 3:35 a.m. call from Tom Ecclestone's wife Jo-Anne.

Ontario Provincial Police constable Bob Wood, who has been sifting through the evidence all week and interviewing those connected with the lodge, will only say he still "hasn't ruled out the possibility of arson."

Fire inspector John Mackenzie from the Ontario Fire Marshal's office in Bracebridge, who is working closely with Wood on the investigation and analyzing samples from the remains of the lodge, said almost exactly the same thing: "We are not ruling out arson as a possible cause."

By the time Minden's one tanker, a pumper and an emergency vehicle could travel the five miles to the lodge, an inferno which had engulfed the 36-year-old wooden frame structure was radiating such intense heat that firemen were unable to get anywhere near the blaze, Minden fire chief William 'Deke' Jackson said.

In front of the lodge's sun porch, five cars belonging to guests staying at the resort were completely incinerated and wires inside nearby

Lacey was released from Minden Hospital after the bottom of his feet were treated. But Canavan, who suffered undetermined injuries, was kept under observation at the hospital for the rest of the day.

Jo-Anne Ecclestone, who describes herself as a light sleeper, said that because of nausea and telephone cables were left intact but welded together.

A brand new fire alarm system installed during the extensive renovations that were completed in late spring this year, alerted the six guests and four staff members who were sleeping in the lodge when the fire broke out on the porch, co-owner Steve Lacey said. Guest Lillian Canavan and Lacey were the only two people who suffered burns.

heartburn associated with her pregnancy, she was sleeping on a couch in the living room beneath a large picture window that overlooks the lodge.

She woke up suddenly, thinking someone was flashing a light, but when she opened her eyes all she could see was a "ball of fire" on the front porch and then a streak of flames running up the length of the

Martin Lumber buys assets

Martin Lumber Limited of Harcourt, already Canada's largest hardwood lumber and veneer producer, announced Tuesday the signing of an agreement to purchase the Ontario hardwood operations of the B.C. forest giant, Weldwood of Canada Limited. The deal transfers five plants and timber rights to the Ontario company.

The purchase includes the Weldwood sawmill and flooring mill in Huntsville; a veneer plant in South River (58 kilometers south of North Bay); and a sawmill complex plus veneer mill in Searchmount (43 kilometers north of Sault Ste. Marie). Those combined operations involve about 425 employees, in addition to many more subcontractors.

This recent acquisition is the fifth American owned subsidiary "Canadianized" by the expanding Martin organization. Starting from a family sawmill, near Bancroft, company founder the late Grenville Martin moved out from his modernized mill at Harcourt to take over the Ontario forestry operations of Wood-Mosaic, Sawyer-Stoll, U.O.P. and Weyerhaeuser.

Martin Lumber president Brian Sarginson said Tuesday that returning provincial forests to local management helps Ontario compete in hardwood markets. "We're specialists in the field," Sarginson explained. "To them it was just a sideline."

The additional mills will allow the

Stinson resigns at COTA over lack of board control

The president and second vice-president of the Central Ontario Travel Association have resigned over the handling of COTA's relationship with Allcom Marketing Inc. of Toronto, the company which produced the 'lure' books for COTA's member areas this year.

President Ken Wilcox of Bancroft and second vice president Bob Stinson of Haliburton tendered their resignations as of COTA's July 9 meeting.

Stinson, a former manager of the local Chamber of Commerce and a member of COTA's board of directors for the past 11 years, said he resigned out of "frustration" with the board's handling of a proposed three year contract with Allcom.

At the July 9 meeting, the board spent five hours arguing about whether or not to sign a three year agreement with the company. Stinson said the debate was a catalyst for his resignation.

"The whole thing came together, that I really don't have time to spend five hours deciding whether or not to make a decision" Stinson said.

While some COTA members have been happy with the books produced by Allcom, Stinson said he has heard complaints from people in the Haliburton area about the approach taken by Allcom, which he said is that "if you don't pay the freight you're not in the book."

Stinson said he believes "a happy median" could be struck, "but this (booklet) doesn't even attempt to approach it."

Under 'Shopping' for example, the Highlands book lists only seven stores in the whole of Haliburton County. Under 'attractions', there are just four listings, two of them commercial operations. The book also lists only four restaurants, and just one marina.

Stinson said he was troubled by the fact that COTA directors did not have much input into the style or content of the lure books.

"As a director on a board, I didn't feel I was doing any directing," Stinson said.

He said he has no ill feelings about COTA itself, and would "like to see them do well."

Chamber manager Shirley Rapson will continue as the area's only other representative on the board until a replacement for Stinson is found.

Madness takes hold on Friday

Local merchants are gearing up for the zaniest and most festive sale of the year, Haliburton's fifth annual Midnight Madness extravaganza. This Friday, stores in Haliburton and the surrounding area will open their doors at 10 p.m. for a two hour spree of discounts, special offers and just plain fun.

Previous Midnight Madness sales have been hugely successful, attracting thousands of shoppers to the community, many in night wear, to take advantage of the bargains. This year's event should be even better, with impressive discounts and a wide array of goods for every purpose.

As in the past, stores that are normally open until 9 p.m. on Friday nights will continue their regular hours. They will close at 9 p.m. to get ready for the sale and will reopen at 10 p.m., offering special bargains through to midnight.

Just about every store in Haliburton village is taking part again this year, as is Eagle Lake Foodtown. Included in this week's issue of The Echo is a special 16 page advertising supplement for the Midnight Madness Sale. In it you'll find details of the bargains and special discounts local merchants will offer.

To help make the evening more exciting, The Haliburton County Echo is offering shoppers a chance to win one of nine, $50 gift certificates redeemable in merchandise at specific retail outlets. Customers will get a ticket on the Echo draw with each purchase at participating stores. Draw for the prizes will be held following the sale and winners will be notified by telephone.

Shoppers are urged to wear their pyjamas for Midnight Madness, and doing so could win you one of four $20 cash prizes, again courtesy of The Echo. Our impartial judges will be on hand at the Village Barn square at 11 p.m. to choose the winners in four categories - best dressed man, best dressed woman, best family group, and most original idea.

All in all the fifth annual Midnight Madness Sale promises to be an exciting evening. Don't miss it!

Dr. Dean Stokes and nurse Brenda Ellis joined a number of their local colleagues in the medical profession on a float that took part in the Haliburton Legion Carnival parade last Wednesday night. The float was one of the funniest in the parade.

Sherborne council

At a meeting of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone, Lawrence and Nightingale Township council July 8, the following matters were discussed:

Road superintendent Delbert Page reported that the roads crew were busy spreading Granular A in areas needed in preparation for oiling.

Members of council were informed that remedial works had been done at the Raven Lake Landing in respect to dock repair.

Council was in receipt of correspondence from John Waltho, president of Otter Lake Association noting that gravel deposit is still filling in the lake bed area along the retaining wall. Page was to inspect the area.

The clerk reported that a call had been received from a Mr. Farnsworth that the ramp at Red Pine Lake required rehabilitation. Since Dave McDonald would be doing inspections in that area shortly, he was requested to take pictures of same to be reviewed at the next meeting of council.

Waste disposal site inspections carried out on the 26th day of June, 1985 were circulated. Both Dorset landfill and McClintock landfill sites were documented to be satisfactorily maintained.

Dave McDonald, Municipal Law Enforcement Officer/Chief Building Official, met with council and reported activities within his office as to number of building permits issued. For the month of June, 1985, 20 permits were issued with a total value of $216,338.00.

Correction

Contrary to a statement in a story last week, the water skiing demonstration in which Tony Birrell was injured was not organized by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Letters were circulated from Diana Jones and Evelyn Ward in respect to their confirmation that trailers now located on their cottage property have been there since 1978 and 1977 respectively and their interpretation that this use is one of legal non-conforming in respect to Restricted Zoning By-law #839.

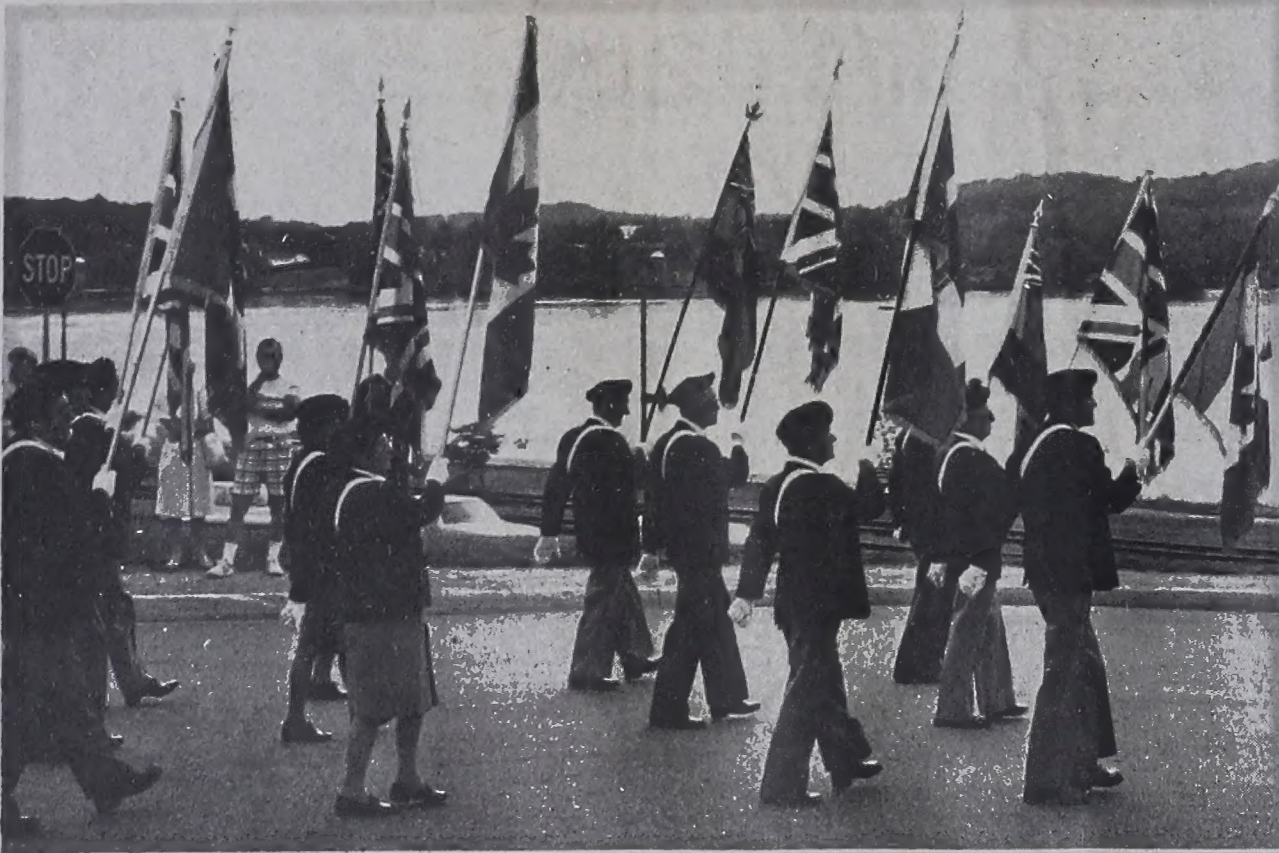

Council recommended deferment in the reading of a draft by-law to amend part of the RU (Rural) Zone to M1-4 Zone (Central Industrial Exception 4) on lands located in Part Lot 29, Concession A, Sherborne Township in the County of Haliburton, until such time as the land owner submits a written agreement between MTC and developer in respect to proposed relocation of Bonfield Street, Hwy. 35, Dorset by-pass.

A severance application requested by Wetmore and Blackman resulted in a lengthy discussion. It was felt that more information was required to allow council to comment.

A memo was circulated to council by Dave McDonald noting that a wire had been strung from stake to stake on a 164 foot property line owned by a Mr. Rachar along Tom Parris Trail. Rachar had done this to bring attention to the fact that over the past years he had tried to rectify the situation of the travelled portion of road allowance encroaching onto his private property. The clerk was instructed to advise Rachar by letter that he was to remove the wire obstacle immediately so that it does not impede the travelled portion of the current road. The road superintendent was directed to acquire some cost estimates to blast a portion of the rock outcropping on the opposite side of the road allowance so that a decision could be made to divert the road away from the private property.

MacDonald presented material on behalf of Pat Sinclair who currently is applying for approval from Ministry of Natural Resources to allow a road to be constructed over Crown Land traversing part Lot 11, Concession XII Sherborne Township. The clerk was instructed to send a letter to MNR advising them that the municipality had no objection to said road development.

Council directed the clerk to issue a cheque payable to Township of Stanhope in the amount of $142.66 representing the municipality's share on a one third basis for the rental of a building from the Carnarvon Building Supplies Limited to be used as an Information Booth to be open from June 29 to September 1.

Members of the Haliburton Legion, Branch 129, displayed the colours to head the Legion Carnival parade last Wednesday night. A large crowd was on hand to watch the parade, which included a number of floats, and the Legion pipe band.

Glamorgan council reviews insurance

At the reeve's request, Paul Dorman reviewed the 1985/86 insurance coverage proposals and answered questions from members of council.

Larry Hunter, chairman of the roads and waste disposal committee, gave a verbal report of the committee meeting held on July 2, 1985.

Resolutions two and three as passed by the roads and waste disposal committee on July 2 were approved.

Insurance coverage was renewed with O.M.E. Insurance Brokers Limited with property values increased by 5%; limit of liability increased to $10,000,000; and recognizing an increase of 15% in the automobile and liability section premium.

Gordon Yewman was requested to provide an up-dated plan of survey showing the dimensions and area of the portion of roadway in Lot 29, Con. 5, which he has requested to be closed in order that council can further consider his request.

Richard L. Bertrand was advised that council is not prepared to close the open lot line between Lots 30 and 31, Concession 8 as indicated in his letter dated June 10, 1985.

Stoughton Electric Ltd. was requested to supply and install an Aquarius Water Cooler Model AEP8F at the Community Centre at a cost of no more than $2,150 complete with charcoal filter.

porch, she said.

"A streak of fire about 12 inches wide went along the floor of the porch and then 'Phum!' up the walls. I screamed at my husband (Tom, who was sleeping in the master bedroom) 'the lodge is on fire.' He said 'phone the fire department.' I then grabbed my son (about six years old, from his bedroom adjacent to the master bedroom) because I thought this place is too close to the lodge."

The Ecclestons' master bedroom also caught on fire when radiant heat from the lodge ignited the roof tiles, destroying the attic and one whole corner of the house.

Tom Ecclestone ran down the back stairs of the house only about 30 yards away from the blaze and up the back entrance of the lodge to the second floor where the six guests and four staff had been sleeping.

Ecclestone found guest Dennis Barzo from Windsor, Ontario still asleep after the fire alarm went off. "I'm a heavy sleeper and he (Tom) saved my life," Barzo said.

Steve Lacey, co-owner of the lodge with Ecclestone, was also sleeping on the second floor when he heard the alarm. "We got out just in time," Lacey said. "There wasn't much smoke until we got downstairs."

But when he tried to exit after rounding up all the staff and guests, "the flames were coming through the front doors from the sun porch," Lacey said.

"I don't remember burning my feet. I just thought they hurt because of rough ground until I got outside and looked at them. The bottoms were black."

Minden Fire Chief William Jackson said that descriptions of how and where the fire started make arson a strong possibility.

"It sounded like some incendiary material like gasoline was used," which might explain "a flash and chair cooling his heels and talking to television reporters, Tom Ecclestone said, "Steve and I have talked and we're going to stay and rebuild" on the remains.

"Insurance is never adequate, but we have a lot, although we certainly weren't solvent," after being open for only a month and a half, Ecclestone said.

"We sacrificed our careers to take on this enterprise and put a lot of sweat and equity in there," he said, looking at the smouldering mound of cinders.

Ecclestone and Lacey had spent the winter living in the lodge to gut it before hiring local contractors to completely renovate the interior.

"Everybody has been so happy since it was opened" in June, Jo-Anne Ecclestone said. While trying to keep a brave face as she told friends and neighbours of the drama hours earlier, the shock of the loss became apparent to her and she couldn't hold back the tears and emotion any longer. Wiping away the tears she said, "At least we will be able to save part of the main house."

'The place went up so fast
...it was just amazing'

Louis and Liena Beaudry, from Windsor, were disorientated and shaken by their brush with death as they emptied the contents of their car which was incinerated up to the back seat. Golf clubs and suitcases were smoke damaged. "Lucky for the fire alarms; that's what saved our lives for sure. We just jumped out of bed and ran for the fire escapes on the second floor. The place went up so fast. Wow! It was just amazing," Beaudry said.

the ball of fire effect" that Jo-Anne Ecclestone saw, Jackson said.

Jackson said the only trouble the 13 firemen had fighting the inferno once it had cooled down enough to get close were two large propane tanks behind the lodge which Tom Ecclestone said were filled the day before.

The flames and heat burned the valves off but the tanks didn't explode.

Guests of the Pine Ridge Lodge on Gull Lake near Miner's Bay salvaged what was left of their clothes and vehicles after a fire of suspicious origin destroyed the lodge early Thursday morning. Firemen took two and a half hours to bring the blaze under control. The structure was a total loss.

Jo-Anne Ecclestone gazes at the damage to her home that resulted when fire destroyed Pine Ridge Lodge. The Ecclestons had recently purchased the lodge and had spent the winter renovating it in preparation for the summer. The lodge was a total loss.

ATC flips, man critical

A Toronto man was reported to be in critical condition on Monday following a three wheeled motorcycle accident in Stanhope Township early Saturday morning.

Michael Joseph Salyniuk, 36, suffered head injuries when his vehicle overturned on the Stanhope dump road.

Police say Salyniuk and a number of his friends had been drinking at the Rockcliffe Hotel in Minden earlier in the evening, and continued drinking later at a Maple Lake cottage. Salyniuk decided to take the three wheeler for a ride, and when he did not return within a few minutes, his friends set out to look for him. They found the machine overturned on the Stanhope dump road and Salyniuk lying face down in a ditch nearby. He was reported to be conscious but complaining of a 'sore head'.

He was taken to Minden Hospital, later transported to Lindsay, and subsequently rushed to Sunnybrook Hospital suffering from critical head injuries.

Police did not learn about the accident until 4:20 a.m. Saturday, more than four hours after the mishap, when Lindsay hospital called Minden OPP asking for the names of Salyniuk's next of kin.

Legion tries 'driver' scheme

Haliburton's Legion Branch 129 has joined the fight against drinking and driving.

Starting soon, the Legion will introduce a programme called 'DAD' - designated abstaining driver. Its purpose is to encourage groups coming to the Legion to appoint one of their members as the driver, who will refrain from consuming alcohol. The designated abstaining driver will be offered free soft drinks or coffee, compliments of the Legion, throughout their visit.

The person will also be given a badge which names him or her as the designated driver for the group.

In implementing the programme, the Legion joins a number of other clubs and organizations which are supporting the designated driver concept to reduce alcohol related accidents.

Horseshoe Days return Saturday

The clank of horseshoes and the laughter of children will resound through Glamorgan Township's public park in Gooderham this weekend as the community gathers for three days of fun and excitement.

The horseshoe days festival has become a summer fixture in Haliburton County, and this year organizers have included some traditional events as well as new ones to add plenty of variety.

Activities begin this Friday night with a dance at the community centre.

On Saturday the programme begins with children's races at 9:30 a.m., canoe races at 11 a.m., and of course, the horseshoe tournament which is the centrepiece of the weekend.

Official opening ceremonies are scheduled for 1 p.m. at the community centre.

Other activities planned for Saturday include Jake the three legged man, a super bingo, a baseball tournament, a bake and craft sale at 1 p.m., and a talent contest beginning at 2 p.m.

On Saturday evening another dance will be held, and like Friday night's dance, it will feature a live band.

Minden Rotary ready for carnival

Minden's Rotary Club is making final preparations for their annual summer carnival which takes place this Wednesday and Thursday.

Festivities will get underway with a parade that will make its way down main street and on to the arena grounds, beginning a little after 6 p.m. Theme of this year's parade is 'Back to Nature'.

The midway at the arena grounds will also begin at 6 p.m. with rides, games of chance, food and all the excitement of a carnival for young and old alike.

New at this year's carnival is a craft show and sale on both nights of the carnival at the Minden Curling Club.

Rounding out Wednesday evening's activities will be a dance to the music of 'Harvest Gold', a country rock group.

Thursday's events include the midway and a dance once again in the evening.

All proceeds from the carnival go to Rotary sponsored community projects.

Tom Ecclestone, shown here with his son, alerted guests of his Pine Ridge Lodge only moments after fire began to rip through the building last Thursday. Arson is suspected.

company to specialize in particular wood species in each location. Harvesting operations will be further streamlined since Martin timber rights were often adjacent to Weldwood forests.

Sarginson sees the Weldwood purchase as a natural step for Martin Lumber; "Geographically, their Ontario holdings were very entwined with ours." He declined to release the purchase price, but conceded the deal ran into millions of dollars.

The sale is still subject to the transfer of Weldwood timber licenses by the Ministry of Natural Resources before the September 30 closing date.

A good idea

Haliburton's Legion has embarked on a program which may go a long way to improve its image among the majority of people in the community who are concerned about the terrifying consequences of drinking and driving. Aware that many of the people who visit the Legion consume alcohol and then drive home, the Legion will participate in a campaign known as Designated Abstaining Driver, DAD. From now on, groups coming to the Legion will be able to choose one of their members as the driver. He or she will then be provided with free coffee or soft drinks for the duration of the visit. The designated driver can wear a badge identifying the fact that they will not consume alcohol on that particular visit.

This concept is a sound one, and the Legion deserves to be congratulated for promoting it. All that remains is for members and visitors to make use of the program responsibly and consistently.

What's worse?

Did you know that windsurfing is considered much more dangerous to the public good than speeding on the highway? Impossible you say? Consider this incident which happened on Head Lake last week. An expert board sailer was enjoying the brisk winds and the exhilaration of streaking across the waves, when suddenly, through the narrows, came the Ontario Provincial Police marine patrol. The windsurfer tacked over to say hello, but he got more than he bargained for. He wasn't wearing a life preserver, you see, and so he was handed a ticket. And how much can a windsurfer be fined for not wearing a life jacket, an offense which puts no one's life but his own at risk? The answer is an astounding $55. Now if that same person were caught travelling well over the speed limit on one of the province's highways, an offense which puts countless fellow travellers at risk despite its growing popularity, he would be fined considerably less, particularly if the officer manning the radar gun was 'sympathetic' to excuses.

If not wearing a life jacket in a small vessel (and that includes a windsurfer) is an offense that justified a $55 fine, then speeding ought to merit a fine at least 10 times higher.

The question is, why doesn't it? Clearly, there's some strange logic at work in the minds of provincial law makers.

A better book

If Haliburton County hopes to strengthen its position as a tourist destination, it will need better promotion than it gets through the booklet produced this spring through the Central Ontario Travel Association. Not only is the booklet awkwardly conceived and laid out, but it gives a very limited view of the facilities and attractions available to tourists visiting the area.

It lists only seven stores under 'Shopping', four establishments, two of them commercial, under 'Attractions', just four restaurants and only one marina. The section reserved for tourist facilities, contains a 'key' that is almost impossible to fathom. A section on fall colour and artist tours lists several artisans but omits a map to help a visitor find them. The section listing events does so in long paragraphs of type which challenge even the most interested reader.

The book's limitations could be due in part to the fact that it is costly to produce and priority must be given to people who pay for advertisements in it. But since public money also goes to COTA, the booklets under its banner should contain much more information, much more pleasingly presented, than the current publication.

Reader answers airport plan critics

To the Editor

To The Editor: Re: Stanhope Airport

Having become aware that there are many misunderstandings in the community regarding the proposed upgrading of the facilities of the Stanhope Airport, as Chairman of the Committee and Safety Officer of the Airport, I feel it is my duty, through the medium of your paper, to set the record straight and allay the fears and misconceptions which have been promoted by a few persons with questionable motives, who are opposed to the improvements planned.

I will refute their arguments one by one by stating the true facts as follows:

1. Argument: That plans to improve the Airport have been kept a secret. Fact: The Property Owners' Association which represents the residents of the area closest to the Airport have been made aware of the proceedings at all times, starting with the Plan of 1977, and have been kept up to date on present planning almost on a weekly basis.

2. Argument: It has been alleged that final plans have been "shoved down people's throats" without consultation. Fact: As stated in Item 1, the Maple and Beech Associations, together with other Associations in the Township, were presented with a copy of the Master Plan and cost estimates. They approved the plan and agreed that the initial work be started as soon as tenders could be invited locally, and contracts awarded.

3. Argument: All trees on private property adjacent to the Airport to be cut down and TV tower to be removed. Fact: No trees on that property have to be cut, and the owner has been offered a free-standing tower replacement to be located elsewhere on his property in accordance with safety clearance requirements of the Ministry of Transport.

4. Argument: Runway to be extended (contrary to claims of the Committee and agreement of Council) from 1600 feet to 2650 feet. Fact: When the Airport was first licensed, officials of the M.O.T. measured everything very carefully, the result being a 1680 foot licensed runway with approaches of approximately 1000 feet, giving a total length of 2,680 feet. It has always been available, and is used by most aircraft. Unfortunately, the clay belt at the far eastern end, coupled with a drainage problem there, has necessitated closing the runway each spring during the run-off period. I might say at this point that over the years the Committee members, with help from friendly neighbours, have worked hard to try to control the washouts and flooding by digging ditches, putting in culverts, etc., as well as trying to get grass to grow to control dust, but with little improvement. The proposed paving will correct all that.

5. Argument: Proposed beacon light will shine into windows for miles around. Fact: The beacon will be mounted on top of either the building or a tower, pointing upwards at 3 to 5 degrees angle, thus not affecting even the closest buildings.

6. Argument: The 40 to 50 thousand dollars it will cost the Township is not a justifiable expenditure. Fact: Without paving, approximately the same amount would have to be spent over the next two to three years to maintain, improve, or repair damage to present facilities caused by the aforementioned erosion, washouts, flooding, etc. This being an on-going problem.

7. Argument: Not justified to us Provincial and Federal money (which is also taxpayers' money) for the proposed plan. Fact: Money is designated by Ontario and Ottawa for improvement of small airports. If Stanhope does not get it, some other airport will. It is funding for airports and not to be used otherwise.

8. Argument: Runway to be extended to 4000 feet and Derek Rolfe to be hired as Airport Manager. Fact: There is no such plan being thought of now or in the future. This rumour would appear to be a malicious fabrication intended to discredit Council and the Airport Committee.

9. Argument: More and larger aircraft will be coming in, causing more noise. Fact: It is a proven fact that a paved runway reduces the take-off run by 10 to 15%. Thus aircraft will have attained a higher altitude before reaching built-up area. There will be no significant change in the size of aircraft using a paved runway.

10. Argument: The upgraded Airport is of no benefit to the Township. Fact: The Airport is even now being used extensively by a number of important concerns - Hydro, Dept. of Transport, Ministry of Natural Resources, Ministry of the Environment. The OPP use it quite frequently in their duties. Aerial photography, mapping, surveying, and especially search and rescue, are other important uses. The Airport is also an advantage for parents bringing their children to local camps, and for visiting them on weekends. It

As others see it...

The people of Europe and the western world have responded with open-hearted generosity to the plight of the millions of starving men, women and children in Ethiopia and other African lands. Monetary and food aid has been pouring into that continent ever since it became known just how desperate conditions really are.

It comes, therefore, as a shock to learn that while the people in more prosperous countries are digging deeply into their resources, the Ethiopian government is finding the situation highly profitable. David Lamb, in an article published by the Los Angeles Times, says Ethiopia will realize about $20 million in hard currency this year because of its port fees charged to unload relief supplies.

Most of the revenue will come from the $12.60 a ton charged to permit unloading of grain. The United States has paid more than $5 million since December to unload the 400,000 tons of grain it has sent to Ethiopia. World Vision International, a Christian relief agency, recently had to hand over $750,000 in port fees before officials would allow a ship carrying 40,000 tons of grain to dock. It had been kept waiting for eight days.

Concern, and Irish aid organization, paid $282,000 to offload 2,000 tons in the port of Assab and transport it to the famine region. Ethiopia is also charging steep duties for non-food relief. Several four-wheel-drive Land Rovers paid for with money raised by rock star Bob Geldof have been on the dock for weeks because of import fees demanded by customs officials.

Nor is the government the only beneficiary of the famine. Business has never been better for hotels and housing owners. The influx of relief workers from the more affluent countries has brought in more spending in hard cash than Addis Ababa and other countries have ever known. Seven years ago the occupancy rate at the Addis Ababa Hilton was 18 per cent. Today the rate has climbed to 80 per cent and the owners have plans afoot to build a 205-room addition.

It is indeed a mark of human generosity that aid continues to pour into African territories when such gross rip-offs must be borne if the dying are to be helped.

War is on

The war is on. Berwick and Kings County councils have officially dug themselves in for a fight about whether the municipalities should be expected to take over greater financial responsibility for programs historically funded primarily by the province. They are just the first in Kings County to do so.

The issue is a simple one: In times of plenty, the provincial and federal governments gave the electorate everything it wanted - the sky was the limit and hang the cost. When times began to get tough, Halifax and Ottawa replied on deficit

The issue is a simple one: In times of plenty, the provincial and federal governments gave the electorate everything it wanted - the sky was the limit and hang the cost. When times began to get tough, Halifax and Ottawa relied on deficit financing in hopes the downturn was temporary.

As we're all aware, the only growth that resulted from that philosophy was growing deficits. And now that the two governments are fully cognizant of the fact that their deficits won't disappear magically, they're forced into a position of having to cut programs. Or are they?

If there is a way of avoiding a harsh reality, most politicians will grab it and that's exactly what is happening here. The provincial government, like the federal government did to it, is cutting its portion of shared funding to municipal units.

Education and capital expenditures are the first two examples of this maneuver. Social services are bound to follow.

Why is this happening? Simply, no politician likes to cut or reduce programs, particularly social programs. It is never a popular decision. But, but shifting the onus on to the municipalities by reducing funding to them, it appears that municipal units are withdrawing support for those programs if they can't find money to replace what the province has held back.

The irony of it all is that the taxpayer, if he owns property, must pay to all three levels of government. If he wishes to see a government program continued, does it matter much to him which level of government forks over the necessary funding? It does if it is the municipalities who have to pay.

By shifting the onus on to the municipalities, it is the property owner who must accept responsibility for the continuation of these programs.

And that is downright unfair. Universal programs like education and social services should be supported by the broadest section of the population - not just the property owner.

The province must re-evaluate its actions and take the responsibility for either raising taxes or cutting programs.

Airport has important role to play is also being used by 20 or 30 cottagers and permanent residents on a regular basis. The improved airport will provide a potential base for forest fire fighting aircraft; it will also make it possible to get to a disaster area quickly with help. It will be of use for an air ambulance, for military training, and in addition to have regular air service, sight-seeing, and charter flights. Stanhope is being "put on the map" by virtue of its Airport, and isn't that what tourism is all about?

11. Argument: Why has there not been financial support from other Townships or County? Fact: For assistance from either group, Stanhope would have to give them some or all control over the operation of the airport. The council and associations were against this. That is why they prefer to seek financial help from Ontario and Ottawa. That way the Township remains independent, subject only to the regulations and requirements of the Departments of Transport.

12. Argument: It is argued that maintenance costs will be higher for paved facilities. Fact: In fact the reverse is true. As stressed in Item 6, it is logical that it is cheaper to maintain a paved road or runway than for gravel or grass.

13. Argument: It is argued that the Airport is only being used by one or two local residents who are pilots. Fact: As enumerated in Item 10, an ever increasing number of aircraft tie down at the airport each weekend, bringing visitors to enjoy the beautiful Haliburton countryside, or to take part in events of interest which may be going on; e.g. Carnivals, etc. Real Estate agents also use the Airport quite often. Research has been done to "fit" this airport into our community.

I would like to point out these are TRUE facts. The Committee and I have nothing to hide from the public. Over the years, and countless hours of hard work and giving up weekends and evenings at home, we have brought the Airport up from a very primitive beginning to what it is today, and what we envisage it may become.

Most everyone finds a cause wherein he or she can contribute to the betterment of their community, and the pleasure of its people. Ours has been, and is, the Airport. We feel proud, justifiably I think, of what has been accomplished. We have recently had a well drilled, paid for through the airport budget and at 80% Provincial assistance. This well is providing, not only for airport use, but also serves the public year round with drinking water.

The grass-covered areas on the public side of the fence (which will remain grass after proposed improvements) are being used by groups and smaller parties for picnics on a frequent basis. Our work has always been voluntary, none of us have ever asked or received payment. We have always enjoyed preparing the annual Fly-In and Air Show, and it has been a satisfaction to us that people look forward to it and enjoy coming.

We have always had very good relations with successive Stanhope councils, and we thank them for their co-operation in our efforts.

While this is rather a lengthy report, I trust it will help Stanhope residents to find a better evaluation of the Airport and the importance of its place in the community.

Sincerely
Derek Rolfe, Chairman,
Stanhope Airport Committee

Should women serve combat role?

Question

Catherine Denholm

There is a controversy right now about women being trained for combat duty. In case of war will women fight alongside men in the trenches? Not that it is likely that there will be trenches in future conflicts.

It seems only fair that if women want to join up to serve their country in a military way that they take the same chances of injury and death as men. Women are not joining the army, navy or air force unless they are physically strong and who knows what happens to mental capabilities in times of war.

If combat duty is not available to women then promotion to the real places of power in the military are not available either - this is why service women are pushing for combat duty training.

When there is unemployment there are always suggestions that a military draft of young people would be a way of solving some of the problems. A new book out in the States outlines a plan for peace time that would have all 19 year olds - women and men - serve 2 years in military training with no deferment for any reason. It points out that in the draft for Vietnam rich people were able to get sons deferred and young men in university were deferred, which left the Vietnam troops made up of the poor and the uneducated. A draft, it continues, would teach all young men and women their responsibilities to the nation as well as supply the numbers needed for defence. Career soldiers who choose to spend their lives in the military and are paid for their services are, according to this theory, mercenaries and therefore do not have the best interests of their country in mind.

I certainly agree that military people do not have the good of the country in mind and I cannot see that military training ever teaches responsibility to one's country.

There is nothing like good military training to desensitize the mind to the social problems of the world. If women train for combat duty and come up through the ranks they will, undoubtedly, think the arms build-up is more important than anything else, just as the military establishment does now.

Cicadas live a very unusual life

Ont. Naturalists

Picture and insect nymph - a one inch tall creature entombed underground for up to 17 years. Laboriously, it tunnels about in its dark, dank, claustrophobic world, sucking tree-root juices as it slowly grows through the summer, then simply sits all through winter. There comes a glorious summer day when it finally tunnels to the surface, climbs onto a tree base and locks its claws onto the bark. Splitting its skin down the back, the living creature climbs out, moulding and unfurling itself into a completely different, two-inch long cigar. As an adult, that insect lives for only a few weeks - just long enough to mate, lay eggs - and then die.

Cicada - or 'heat bugs' as they're more popularly known - include about 1,000 species world-wide, but fewer than a dozen occur here.
Each species has a different length of time underground - some as short as two years, others five or 13, and others - about 17. And each has a slightly different song.

Periodical cicadas, like their name suggests,
make an 'appearance' infrequently, about one summer in every five to 17, in intervening years, there are none. These enormous species - should you be lucky enough to see them - are blackish with reddish wing veins and eyes - five of them, two huge compound eyes and three smaller, simple eyes on the forehead. Together, these features make them a most ominous sight.

The cicadas which make their debut in numbers during late July and August - when their high-pitched buzz fills the air on sultry days - have a two to five year life cycle. But enough mature each year that we hear them every summer.

And hear them we do, for cicadas are drummers, equipped with two remarkable musical instruments; barely 1/4" across, they can be heard 1/4 or even 1/2 mile away. Hidden beneath a plate on the middle of their body is a tiny hammer-like structure - resembling a miniature version of the hammers in a piano. Operated by powerful muscles, the hammer pounds on a tightly stretched membrane - like a drum's 'skin'.

A series of hollow, multiple chambers - each acting like the hollow box of a guitar, amplifies the sound, which then emanates from a hole - again like a guitar.

The loud, often pulsating buzz issues only from the male, to attract females. The shrill singing on the hottest, most sultry days is no accident;
nature has 'used' a particular weather condition as the cue, to ensure that all cicadas seek each other simultaneously. This is vitally important when uncommon, active and small fliers are spread through a huge volume of air, meadows and forests.

Imagine a dozen or so two-inch insects in the huge maze of a forest; it's vital not only that they be able to find each other, but also that they come

Lumber team batters are hot in 11-7 defeat

Haliburton Lumber's best hitters had a hot night at the plate last Thursday, pounding out 20 hits on their way to an 11-7 win over the Kinsmen, who managed only eight hits off the pitching of Bernie Nicholls.

In the earlier game, Curry Motors earned a come-from-behind victory in the late innings against Beachli Construction.

Beachli took a one run lead in the bottom of the first inning when Erin Nicholls cracked a Wade Stamp pitch over the outfield fence, and added another in the bottom of the second when Kelly Mitchell singled to drive in Mike Shkimba, who had doubled as the lead off hitter.

Curry Motors got back in the game in the top of the fourth inning when Bob Johnston was walked and Wade Stamp singled to score him.

The motormen added another in the top of the fifth when Tran LaRue crossed the plate on a Bob Johnston single.

The score remained tied at two apiece until the top of the seventh when Bernie Upton singled, then scored on an outfield error.

Ian Cooper's two out single in the bottom of the seventh put the tying run on base for the builders, but Cooper was left stranded by the third out, giving Curry Motors the 3-2 win.

A second game was sche-

In the top of the fifth, with the Kinsmen still leading by bottom of the inning, Colin Newell got the offensive effort off to a solid start with a lead off home run. Ron Linklater then doubled, Doug Ruyap was walked and Kelly Mitchell notched a two RBI triple. Mitchell also scored to account for the fourth run before the inning expired.

Haliburton Lumber moved back in front in the top of the seventh when Erin Nicholls singled, stole a base and was brought home on a sacrifice shot from Rod Sisson.

With only three outs remaining in regulation play, the Kinsmen felt the pressure, and it intensified when the first two batters grounded to second base and were thrown out.

Colin Newell came through with a double, however, and Ron Linklater then cracked a single that brought Newell across and tied the game at seven apiece, forcing extra innings.

Haliburton Lumber would not be denied in the top of the eighth, hammering out five hits and scoring runs off the bats of McColl, Boice, Bernie Nicholls and Kevin Sisson.

The Kinsmen went down three straight in the bottom half, giving the lumbermen an 11-7 win.

Dixie Lee beats Sun

By JIM MILNE

The Dixie Lee soccer team defeated the Muskoka Sun or Bracebridge Phoenix, as they have been renamed, in Minden last Sunday.

The first half was scoreless. Both teams had opportunities but there were few clear chances to score.

In the second half Haliburton had the wind advantage and Bracebridge was tiring. With 10 minutes left in the game Mike Hatkoski deflected the ball into the net from Tim Davies' shot. The local team kept up the pressure until with five minutes left Hatkoski scored again on a clear shot from close in. He has now scored seven of the team's 14 goals.

The win was particularly satisfying for Dixie Lee because it was only their fourth in eleven games and their last win was June 16. Furthermore, it is the first shutout for the goalie Andy Shapiera and the defence. The team has also been practising passing lately and this seems like the reward for that work.

Brian Holden, the coach, was called upon to referee at the last moment and both teams agreed that he did a good job. Bracebridge had only 10 players for the game but Dixie Lee wasn't particularly sympathetic because they played their previous game shorthanded against a good team.

There will be no games on the holiday weekend. The next practice will be Thursday, August 8 and the next game Sunday, August 11 against Parry Sound. Both practice and game will be at the high school in Haliburton if the field is ready.

Unless you're prepared to go tree-climbing, you won't see cicadas very often. But, listen for the song. And when it seems to be close to ground level, follow the sound back toward its source. You'll occasionally see them on leaves; more often branches and stems. The most abundant species now are mottled but the characteristic cigar-like outline and four large, cellophane-like wings folded flat over their backs, often give them away. Watch also for the abandoned shells, left clinging to the base of poplar, elm or other trees.

Haliburton vs. Minden

Ladies finals underway in best of five

Submitted

As a result of games played last week in the ladies softball league, the Haliburton Jrs. will meet the Minden Srs. in a three out of five final series.

Last week in the semi-finals the Minden Srs. won two games against the Minden Jrs. Both games were closely contested, with the Srs.

down 8 to 2 before the mighty bats of the Jr. team came alive. Tracey Harrison came up with a Grand Slam in the bottom of the sixth inning which added to the 10 runs produced that inning. The final score was 12 to 8. On Tuesday night the series continued in a late game which the Jrs. won 16 to 6. Pam Iles and Marg Smith shared the mound for the Jrs. while Betty Whiteway and winning 6 to 5 on Monday night and 9 to 5 on Tuesday night. The Jrs. were aided by terrific pitching from Cheryl Dillon and her teammates including Werna Blakey and Wendy Davis, who helped make this series a close one. The Sr. team received some strong performances from Sue Pye, Barb Winn, and Rhonda Wilson. Nelda Cully and Anne Hewson pitched for the winners.

In Haliburton the two local teams began their play down on the Monday night also. The Haliburton Srs. started strongly and had the Jrs.

Wendy Roberts pitched for the Srs.

In other playdown action the Wilberforce and Gooderham teams met to begin a three out of five final series. One game was played last week with Gooderham defeating Wilberforce 14 to 5. Eileen Simmons pitched well for the winners.

The finals between the Haliburton Jrs. and Minden Srs. will be starting Monday night in Haliburton with the other series between Gooderham and Wilberforce continuing in Gooderham the same night.

This lively group, calling themselves Haliburton Hospital's Surgical Band, provided more than a few laughs for spectators at the Haliburton Legion Carnival parade last Wednesday night. As well as the parade the carnival featured amusements, rides, and a dance.

Imagination given a free rein

Students mimic 'haute couture' in week test of creativity

By HAMISH GORDON
Staff Reporter

More than 300 art enthusiasts at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts were enthralled by the school's third annual fashion show hosted and directed by fashion star Marilyn Brooks last Friday.

Brooks, 50, an internationally acclaimed Toronto fashion designer, transformed 22 amateur seamstresses into five haute couture fashion houses in less than five days at the fine arts school.

The students, aged 14 to 60, from across Ontario, Montreal and even, in the case of 18 year old Richard Golland, from Oxford England, immersed themselves in Brooks' world of fashion for five days of intensive training. The aim was to match the haute couture fashion houses as best they could, and the results were startling.

Brooks' students began a week ago with nothing more than scraps of printed fabric and their wildest imagination. They had to improvise and use all their nascent skills in pattern designing, sewing and sketch designing.

Brooks' task was to challenge their limited skills and transform the 22 students into five different fashion house companies.

The five groups of three to six students called themselves; Peelers, Chez Lita, DC3, BeYond Fashions and Tsuga.

Local stores are a 'gold mine'
for needed materials

Their tasks were to decide upon a theme for their own particular fashion house, sketch what they hoped to create, and finally to scramble for all the available scraps of fabric provided by Brooks. Once her supply was exhausted, Brooks' students descended on the basements of local retailers to search for remnant material.

Stedman's basement was a gold mine of discarded print fabrics and assorted accessories for first and second year students, Brooks said, but this year's students had to dig deeper in the shop basements to accommodate what they had sketched on paper.

Sketches were then transformed into patterns on broad sheet newsprint.

All the while Brooks kept each fashion house on course as their fall and winter lines progressed. Each house which produced, from scratch, a line of four or five garments, had to convey their theme to the public in the form of a press release and company logos. Retail prices for their garments also had to be recommended.

Brooks, a seasoned master of the art of such promotional displays, influenced the school teachers, librarians, high school kids and retired folk who took on the air of seasoned fashion designers themselves.

But they also had to assimilate the intensity of a top designer's life style. Brooks' high pressured, hard working life style includes co-ordinating five shops in Toronto, San Francisco and Windsor, Ontario, as well as directing professional fashion shows and consulting for print fabric houses, a demanding standard for her students.

By Thursday afternoon each fashion house was busy assembling the final accessories to their own line of fall and winter garments which would be shown to the world on the following day.

Englishman Richard Golland made it his task to co-ordinate the technical aspects of the show once he had finished designing and assembling his own garment. He assigned 14-year-old Miriam Kilby from Ottawa, another amateur designer of the Peelers fashion house, to model the attire he had created.

By noon on Friday the runway in the girls' gym at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was set for a kaleidoscope extravaganza of fall and winter fashions.

The sound system pounded out an up-tempo disco beat that would introduce each haute couture fashion house, then silence fell as Brooks appeared from behind the curtains to give formal introductions which she read from the press releases prepared by each house.

Peelers was first on the agenda. Their styles, designed for the teenage generation, ranged from Designs like these, created by Haliburton School of Fine Arts students, could be marketed commercially if they were produced by major fashion houses. Instead, they were made during a week-long course with fashion expert Marilyn Brooks at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

their intent
in 'press releases'

Brooks' students created more than 40 different designs, ranging from the practical to the futuristic.

the sensually risqué to the innocent American Graffiti booper. The energy displayed by the models sporting the attire was very popular.

Tsuga slid onto the runway next with what they described as "wearable art".

"When you get sick of wearing it hang (the garments) on your living room wall," Brooks commented as the models glided self consciously up and down the runway.

These ladies weren't actually models although they improvised those slithery movements that professional models make to show off the haute couture garments in the most elegant displays for retail buyers.

Regardless of how unpractised the ladies of Haliburton's fine arts school were at modelling, the more than 40 outfits and garments they sported brought acclaim and congratulations from the audience.

Another fashion house that appealed to the over 40 league was DC3. Their colourful and elegant array of caftans for all shapes and sizes sailed down the runway to enthusiastic applause.

The Chez Lita fashion house represented a return to another kind of elegance, featuring day wear, sportswear, evening wear and cruise wear.

They claimed that "their lines will appeal to the women who enjoy dressing in sophisticated timeless fashion."

The futuristic fashions of the BeYond house were announced by Brooks as a "new Canadian company, so we are post modern. Our clothes are eons ahead of today's fashions."

Whatever styles pervade the world of women's fashions next fall and winter, those on display were probably as innovative and avant garde as anything the professionals produce.

In fact, director of the fine arts school Barb Bolin said Brooks likes to take time off from her hectic schedule to come to Haliburton because she gets new ideas from her students and incorporates them into her own designs. Last year Brooks used two ideas from the students which are now being marketed, Bolin said.

These fashionable people created the clothes they're wearing during a five day course at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts with Toronto based fashion designer Marilyn Brooks. They modelled their creations for the public at a show last Friday attended by more than 300 people.

Mohawks lose 4-0

Submitted

In contrast to their previous game on July 20 when the weather was hot and sunny, Minden Mohawks' game at Bracebridge on July 22 was played in a steady downpour throughout the first half.

The only goal of the first half was scored by the home team from a penalty kick awarded against Minden for a handling offence. Joey Boyle in the Minden net, who played a strong game throughout, only got a piece of the ball but was unable to prevent the goal.

In the second half, with the wind at their backs, Bracebridge applied continual pressure, the Mohawks being limited to the occasional foray into the Bracebridge half of the field. The home team was awarded another penalty kick after a Minden player handled the ball but the shot went over the bar. During the second half the home team added three additional goals to finish with a 4-0 victory.

The Bracebridge team plays in the O.S.A. Muskoka League and the Mohawks put on a very spirited display and were by no means outclassed by the opposition, even employing the offside game on numerous occasions to their advantage.

On July 25 the team played away at Little Britain. Trailing 2-1 at the interval, Minden came on strongly in the second half and ran out 6-3 winners.

Derrick Moore notched a hat trick which included two goals scored from the penalty spot. Dean Sisson, Colin McKnight and Derek Allison had singles to account for the other Minden goals.

At the sound of the tone...

If Alexander Graham Bell knew that years after he invented the telephone, some other electronic technician would come along and develop the answering machine, I'll bet he would have gone fishing instead. I don't know anyone whose mouth doesn't lock into an Elmer Fudd stutter when they hear one of those "beeps".

It's not that I don't understand their usefulness. I could do with one myself this summer. Several people have complained that they have been unable to get ahold of me for days on end. If I had some idea of who had called during my absence, I could get back to them, saving us all a lot of aggravation. But I know what those machines do to me and I hesitate to return the favour.

Say for instance, I were calling some professional office. I'd expect a cheery receptionist to answer the phone with a "Hello, Smith and Jones in I help you?"

Upon I would repeat, "Hello, my name is Mrs. M...., I'd like to make an appointment with Mr. Smith to discuss such and such, and so on..." A calm and businesslike conversation, leading to my arranging said appointment, and having my problem handled. Simple. Right?

Dial the same number, hear one ring, the click of a tape recorder, and a tinny voice comes on and says, "Smith and Jones Ltd. We are not in at the moment. At the sound of the tone, leave your name and phone number. State your problem, and we will get back to you."

Two seconds later, the ominous "Beep" switches off my mind, and I give out with, "Ah...."

"Beep, click." Dead line. Leaving me hanging there in a state somewhere between blinding rage, and sheer exhaustion. For the next two years, upon hearing the awful "Beep", my reflexes will automatically hang up the phone, so as not to further embarrass myself.

I am not unique. Lots of people are intimidated by that sound. It's bad enough to hear it from a business office. But when you call up a friend to catch up on the news, discuss the weather, or try to arrange a get together, only to discover that they've begun to use the dumb things, that's going too far. Especially when they try to be inventive, and come up with taped monologues that are longer than the conversation you intended to have.

One couple I know has had a whole string of these cutesy little dialogues. They have, so far, ranged from a carefully prepared statement, declaring their dismay at finding how many important calls they were missing, thereby precipitating their purchase of the dreaded machine, even though they know no one likes them. They even ended it with a deep-doggie voiced "Ruff", instead of a "Beep". Now and then, one of them will get a brain-storm and make a few alterations to their tape. We were getting used to them - sometimes managing to make equally smart replies.

The other day, Ed had a need to speak to this person, about a rather important event involving several necessary details.

Ring...Click...Beep..."Hello", (said a female, tinny voice). "This is the...zoo. As we are having an argument about who is going to answer the phone, and so on and so forth, blah, blah, (sound of page turning), and the kids are screaming, blah, blah, (sound of page turning), would you leave your message at the sound of the tone...Is that it? Is that all I'm supposed to say?" (sound of male person falling on floor laughing, kids yelling, and general mayhem). "Beep".

It was two days before Ed could remember what it was he wanted to tell them.

Singer Sandra Beech and 'Chickery Chick' performed for a wrapt audience of children at Haliburton High School on Saturday afternoon. The event was sponsored by CHACE Place, and judging from the reaction of the children and their parents, it was a huge success.

Drop in Centre

On Wednesday, July 25, 35 older adults participated in a trip to the Frost Centre and Algonquin Park. Many thanks to our bus driver, Jack Fleming, who volunteered his services to Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre for the trip.

At the Frost Centre a staff member led us on a tour of the campus and explained the history of the centre and the activities which visiting groups were involved in. We saw informative exhibits on wildlife, forestry, geology and snowshoe construction and watched a short slide presentation on the centre. The Frost Centre, located on Highway, 35, 12 km. south of Dorset, has something of interest for everyone and well worth a visit.

Algonquin Park was entered at the West Gate and shortly after entering the park we saw our first wildlife (a family of partridges crossing the highway!). An excellent lunch was enjoyed by all at the Canoe Lake Restaurant. It consisted of cold sandwiches (home-made bread, butter, jam, etc.), chicken soup or fresh-baked bread.

After the picnic, the group went to the museum where they saw exhibits on fish, wildlife, and geology. A theatrical presentation of the Algonquin history was also shown. Next stop was the pioneer log cabin. Located just outside the gate, it portends a fine view of the park. Please

Highland Domain enchants a Count

Countess' son transforms a resort, and sets luxury precedents

By HAMISH GORDON
Staff Reporter

Based on the maxim that it takes all kinds to make a world, Haliburton County's haunting wilderness was recently responsible for attracting the elegance, sophistication and noble lineage of a genuine French count.

The Echo asked Count Eduard de Moustier for an interview last Saturday. He immediately obliged and suggested Sunday brunch at his 4 1/2 thousand acre, Domain de Killien luxury resort. Later, at their private Delf East Lake cottage, the de Moustiers spoke of themselves and of their relationship to the people and landscape of Haliburton County.

The first impression a visitor has, seeing the Count at his unpretentious lodge on the north end of Drag Lake, is that the Count and Countess de Moustier are surrounded by old friends from around the world.

His tall burly frame topped with a distinguished visage that is undeniably aristocratic French, commands the attention of all in the room.

Even when he slouches unobtrusively in a corner of the lounge in a deep armchair, listening intently to a story, his jocular laugh and deep voice, resonating with the rhythms of his native tongue, reveal his presence and focus attention on him.

Countess de Moustier is of French West Indian descent. Her silky complexion is ebony black but even in middle age she is vivacious and youthful.

The Count's own story of his first glimpse of her before they were formally introduced is a revealing tale.

"Many, many years ago, I was invited to a garden party at the British Embassy in Paris for the coronation of the Queen (Elizabeth). It was very formal; most of the people were wearing gray top hats. Then I saw a black girl, very lovely. But I said to myself this is the end of the empire." The Count enjoyed humoring himself as much as he did his guests. "I love joking with myself," he added.

The Countess also remembers her first impression of the Count 30 years ago. "You should have seen him in Paris; he was elegance personified, the way he dressed, and he has such a fantastic way of telling stories. I was never bored and that was the most important thing I needed."

Count de Moustier was hounded by the French press corps in those days, since he was considered to one of France's most eligible bachelors. Today, even though "he dresses like a wood cutter" and she's heard all the stories, they still treat each other like a courting couple.

The Count purchased Haliburton Lodge, and two massive tracts of land, in 1982. Since then the de Moustiers have been kept active by their passion for winter sports and entertaining the paying guests.

Regardless of the couple's position as proprietors, Dante Larcade, their 31 year old son, who is the chef and manager of Domain de Killien, treats his step-father and birth mother as if they were guests themselves. If they don't reserve a table for dinner they don't get served.

Not surprisingly, they fell more in love with the winter in the Highlands than with summer and spend much of their time on cross-country ski trails which are kept immaculately groomed throughout their private forests. The Countess' enthusiasm for snowmobiling ended soon after she got on one last year. She broke three ribs after crashing into the main lodge.

On Saturday, as the summer tourist season peaks in Haliburton, the de Moustiers will escape to the tranquility of their two estates in the West Indies, and relax on their 42 foot yacht, which the Count learned to navigate on a voyage across the Atlantic.

"We bought it in France many years ago and my wife said 'How are we going to get it over to the West Indies?' I said we would put it on a steamer, of course, like most people, because I didn't know how to navigate." But she insisted that they sail it across.

After weeks of trial and error navigation in his garden and off the west coast of France with a sextant he had borrowed from a friend, the Count pointed the vessel west toward the West Indies.

"The first days out of sight of land I was shivering...No one was ever happier than we were," when they arrived right on target 26 days later.

'Paris, Rome, Gstaad, Haliburton, who could ask for anything more?'

When they return to Haliburton in the fall, the Highlands will have returned to a more quiet state. But the de Moustiers' presence here has already proved to be economically auspicious.

From October 16th to 20th, 30 American travel agents, AAA representatives, tourism writers, coach tour planners and American government officials will visit the Haliburton Highlands to discover its resorts.

The highlight of their tour will be the Domain de Killien, according to Ann Axler, a Central Ontario Travel Association representative who will host the visit.

As for relations with local merchants, the Count says he enjoys doing business with them and he always prefers to buy locally. He and the Countess maintain a friendly, but distant mutual respect with local people which the Count hopes to preserve.

To explain his concept of friendship the Count quoted from a popular French children's book called 'Le Petit Prince'. "The story goes that a little boy has a friend who is a flower and he says to himself, 'I mustn't pick it, I must go very slowly.' It's very difficult to explain the French custom because English is not my first language. But I think people are very shocked by the fact that I don't like to use first names." It just doesn't feel natural to call everybody that one meets, "Jim, Ted, and Bob, it doesn't mean anything," de Moustier tried to explain.

"On the contrary I feel there is a beauty in the understatement," to say Mr., Mrs. and Miss.

"I feel very close to some people (in the community) but Mr. McFadden (who did extensive renovations on some cabins) for example, is still Mr. McFadden."

The formal address, he says, "has a charm. It's not snobbery, it's just being careful. And the formal address is an act of reconnaissance that impeaches the aggressivity between people."

As in many traditional French families, Count de Moustier addresses his mother in the polite "vous" form rather than the familiar "tu".

When asked how he and the Countess would like to be addressed, Count de Moustier tried to avoid the question but finally said "Madame or Monsieur de Moustier or just Count and Countess."

Count de Moustier is trying hard not to compromise the time honoured social customs that he left behind so recently in the old country.

"I don't want to be like every other Canadian," he said.

The de Moustiers began their life in the new world by retiring to a modest residence in the heart of Haliburton village in 1981. Renovations at the Domain de Killien were carried out later. The de Moustiers are still living in the village until they build their own house on their private Ritchie Lake.

Count de Moustier had previously spent 37 years of his life working, rather than wallowing in the aristocratic ways inherited from his ancestral past.

However, Dante Larcade, 31, son of the Countess, 56, and stepson to the Count, 61, was the real catalyst that kept the de Moustiers in Haliburton. Larcade made the Domain de Killien a viable enterprise and fulfilled the dream that his parents yearned for. Money was not the issue. Economic feasibility however and a charming friendly ambience, in and around the estate was.

Their dream was no different from any ordinary Canadian - to own, live and work in a quiet piece of wilderness far from the madding crowds. The de Moustiers' dream was merely on a grander scale, about 5,000 acres grander than the average Canadian's.

The main topic of conversation over a sumptuous brunch of freshly cooked ham, ratatouille, a joint of roast lamb and scrambled eggs, all prepared by their son, the chef, was trees.

While the Countess spoke of exotic tropical tree species on her native island, St. Thomas, in the West Indies, the Count expressed opinions on forest management in France compared to the Ministry of Natural Resources' techniques of management and reforestation.

He was delighted and enthusiastic to find that the MNR wanted to co-operate with him as a landowner under the Woodlands Improvement Act.

He felt that his experience and knowledge of land and forest management on his estates in

Count and Countess de Moustier with COTA rep Ann Axler

France and the West Indies, coupled with MNR techniques, would eventually transform his bush country into the splendour and majesty comparable to his old Killien forest in Brittany, France.

But his guests at brunch from Toronto were even more intrigued when the Count displayed his talent as a 'raconteur', something he obviously enjoys.

It was his wilderness in the Highlands that he was impatient to show his new guests, however.

The tranquility of the Domain de Killien and Delf East Lake served as an idyllic alternative to retirement at his majestic Killien forest estate in Brittany, France. The estate has been passed down through the de Moustier family since the 13th century.

During a 10 minute drive along old logging trails, Count de Moustier began recounting the family history.

"On my mother's side, which is a very small part of the family, my grandmother (of Brittany origin) brought the Killien into the family as a dowry, a property which he liked very much and where I spent my summer holidays as a child. It has shrunk since the French Revolution, but we are still very attached to it."

His family back in France jokingly refer to the Haliburton property as the "New Killien in the Highlands or in the new world," he said.

When his account of the history became complicated, the Countess attempted to clarify it, but she was occasionally foiled by the number of estates still in the family back in France and which side of the family they had come from. It was not easy to recall precisely the ancient lineage of the kings of Europe, many of whom were related through inter marriage of royal blood lines.

When the logging trail became too rough, the Count said "we have to walk from here," to Lake Delf East.

Having distanced himself a few paces from the Countess he asked his guest for a cigarette and was obliged. But the Countess, down wind, said "Oh no you don't" and scolded the Count in French. He reacted sheepishly and handed back the lit cigarette to his guest but stole an occasional puff when she wasn't looking.

Despite his portly figure the Count marched up and down the hills with ease. At the end of the road, on a bluff of rock, the Count said, "Voilà" indicating the awesome beauty of Lake Delf East.

Barely visible among the trees on the other side of the lake was the isolated log cabin where the couple had been staying. It is only accessible by boat.

Anxious to be there, Count de Moustier whisked his guest off the bluff down to the boat launch where two row boats sat waiting on the shore.

He launched one himself, beckoned his guests to board and began rowing the half-mile to the other side of the lake. When the Echo offered to row the strenuous distance with four people, the Countess said, "forget it, he never lets anybody do the rowing."

The Count made excuses that he knew the waterways and that only he knew how to use the oar locks which weren't properly fixed to the aluminum craft.

Once at the cottage, which had no running water, the Count and Countess made their guests comfortable, like ordinary country folk would.

Cookies and coffee were set on the table as the de Moustiers laughed and told intriguing stories of the old days in Paris when life was more decadent than it is today.

Before the Countess met Count de Moustier she was a commoner, but from an equally sophisticated family. In her profession as a dancer, model and actress, she broke new ground that made black models and dancers more socially acceptable.

The press in France made hay of the de Moustiers' marriage and the couple shocked many of their colleagues in the social elite.

But today the Count and Countess feel less prejudice in Europe than they have seen in travelling through the United States.

Why does a Count relinquish his elite social status in Paris to settle in the backwoods of Haliburton County?

"The real incentive in coming to Canada," he said, was to escape the political machinations and the nuclear threat in Europe. The de Moustiers were also fed up with French President Francois Mitterand's regressive socialist system, which is taxing the rich to the hilt and lacks free enterprise, Count de Moustier says.

Throughout Europe "there is a risk. The Russians have 130 divisions (his own uneducated guess) ready and we (in France) have nothing" with which to fight back.

And economically, "the problem is very simple. If you have any wealth, you can pay much more taxes than your income. And I know people who pay two or three times more taxes than their income. Nobody can survive like that," Count de Moustier said, with typically French exasperation.

Countess de Moustier interjects by pleading her son's case.

"Dante had a little (art) gallery and restaurant in the Marais, (the heart of the old city of Paris) that was doing very well. But he was not allowed to change his prices!" under the new Mitterand government, she said.

"But the real incentive (in coming to Canada) is the general idea that Europe is unsafe (with the shadow of a nuclear threat hanging over it)" the Count concluded.

"My (two) brothers (one in Switzerland and one in Paris) and I and my Mother, (also in Switzerland), we wanted to have something on this side of the Atlantic. We thought it would be nice in the States or Canada. Finally it became Canada, Canada became Ontario, Ontario became Haliburton," Count de Moustier said.

Chef sees lodge as a challenge

As for the elite social set he left behind, "Wherever we go, they follow," he said, which was obvious by the comradery he enjoyed with the resort's year round clientele of financiers, publishers and famous entertainers, many of whom are flown in by plane and land on Drag Lake.

Until 1982 Haliburton Lodge, at the far north end of Drag Lake, was just another lodge. Today it is a hauntingly beautiful but unpretentious throne of French aristocracy that recreates the genuine old world French ambience of a home away from home for the de Moustiers and their guests.

Gayle and Guy Shulman, guests from Los Angeles who stayed at the Domain de Killien last weekend wrote in the lodge's guest book:

"Thank you for sharing your home with us. Paris, Rome, Gstaad, Haliburton, who could ask for anything more? We are sad to leave, we will remember this time always as very special," the Shulmans wrote.

They were so sad, Axler said, "they were

The saw that 'probably' built the Count's log cabin

taking anti-depressant pills at the thought of going back to L.A. on the last day."

The Shulmans stayed an extra couple of days and wrote again in the guest book before they forced themselves to leave: "Dante et al, thank you again for everything, the elegance, the style, the Domain state of mind. Thank you for our new piece of paradise."

But the driving force behind the Domain's air of passive elegance and sophistication is their son, Dante Larcade, who rescued the resort business in April 1984.

The Count's initial intention of buying Haliburton Lodge and the surrounding acreage was to have the previous owners operate the resort for them, because, Count de Moustier says, he had no experience or knowledge of how to run a resort business.

He merely wanted to enjoy the wilderness and not worry about business after spending many years as the West Indian branch president of the Liquid-Air Corporation, which produces 60 per cent of Canada's pressurized oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen.

But the previous owners of the lodge did not share the de Moustiers' idea of recreating a new France in microcosm. Their culture was of German persuasion.

The de Moustiers were ready to pull out of Haliburton when the Countess' son, Dante Larcade, said he too was ready to retire from the fast social pace of life in Paris.

"I see this as a challenge. I was fed up with the high life; too many people, hours and the fast (social) pace" of keeping a gallery and restaurant going, Larcade said.

"I'll be here indefinitely."

Elite guests are overwhelmed

Larcade now works as hard or harder as the manager and chef of the Domain de Killien as he did in his Paris restaurant-gallery, La Caillou Blanch, which was written up in many exclusive Parisienne restaurant guide books.

In his kitchen he produces the "best French cuisine in all of Haliburton - indeed probably one of the best French restaurants on the continent, I do not exaggerate," publisher of T.O. magazine, Bobby Rotenberg wrote in a letter to the Globe and Mail's restaurant critic, Joanne Kates this month.

From his kitchen Larcade also directs his staff and was even fixing a whirlpool tub component during his brief interview with the Echo.

Count de Moustier also likes to help his stepson with the resort's accounts while he lives in the village of Haliburton.

Educated as a doctorate of French law, Count de Moustier says he never used his university education in his career with the Liquid Air Corporation. Yet he evidently enjoyed the world of free enterprise despite his wealth.

Money and possessions are not important for the deMoustiers the Count says, but their customs and a civilized way of life are.

After spending four hours in the log cabin exchanging life's experience and ideologies with his guest the Count felt it only fitting to propose a toast.

He produced a bottle of 12 year old, Bells Deluxe Scotch from a kitchenette cupboard and a stack of styrofoam cups. After charging his guests to lift their cups he said, "Here's to the people of Canada so that they can discover that the real Canada is here in Haliburton."

Then he said, "You know I would walk all day if I could be guaranteed to see a full grown bull moose, just to look at it."

The Count used to be a hunter in France, the Countess said, but now he's a preserver. And that is why they are here amid the majestic forests and lakes of Haliburton County.

Boat landings are inadequate

Wilberforce
News

by Winnie Schofield

Public access to water is a necessary requirement for a tourist area, providing a place to park your car and launch your boat, to do a little fishing and to enjoy the peace and beauty of the lake. These landings are available at many of the lakes in this township and neighbouring areas but many of them prove to be unsuitable through rough roads, steep inclines and poor parking facilities.

A check of various public landings shows three to be in excellent condition. These three have been set up by the Ministry of Natural Resources and contain good parking and adequate docks. They are to be found at Loon Lake, Little Escon on Cedar Lake and North Bay Paudash. Otter Lake landing could do with some improvement but is superior to that of Farquhar Lake. At Benoit Lake there is a sudden drop to the water and there are many old tree stumps in the way that should be removed. Clement Lake, maintained by Monmouth Township, has no parking and cars must be left on the highway. At Wilberforce the water is too shallow and weedy. Three lakes very difficult to get to with a vehicle are Elephant, Grace and Buckskin. One of the very worst for access is Upper Cardiff Lake. The condition of these public landings should be of concern to the Chamber of Commerce and steps taken to provide more convenience for our visitors who do not own property on the lakes.

Some items left over from Country Good Times: Minor Hockey Club members have been working hard to help finance the club. Among those involved is Bob Anderson, who can be seen every Thursday evening running the Bingo games at the Community Centre. Bob's whole family are there to help out. On the holiday weekend members of the Minor Hockey League ran the snack bar in the arena and held a 50/50 draw. The lucky winner of this was Daniel Chashim of Richmond Hill.

The results of the amateur talent show are as follows: senior first place winner was Steve Clothier of Harcourt. Second place was won by Marlene Main of Harcourt. Third place went to Sheila Coleman of Harcourt and Shelley Hubert of Cambridge. In the junior competition Shelley Hubert took first place with second place going to Caroline MacGowan of Cedar Lake. The Hughes brothers quartet of Wilberforce won third place. Dale Coghlin of Picton won honourable mention. Harcourt seems to have an abundance of talent. Congratulations to all.

One of the interesting programs planned for this year is the Monmouth Agricultural Fair which takes place August 9, 10 and 11. Many fine events will take place at this time. It is the second year for the fair and first attempt to go it alone. It is to be hoped that this annual fair will prove to be a popular tourist attraction. There will be a parade on Saturday, August 10 at 1 p.m. and the association is looking for entries. There will be prizes for the best float, the best decorated bike, best service club float, best antique farm machine float, best turned out horse and rider and best clown. Those wishing to enter should get in touch with P. Jorden at 448-2657 or E. Saxby at 448-2493. Fair books containing regulations and information are available. An Amateur Talent Show will be held in the arena at 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 10. Those wishing to take part please register at that time.

The Red Cross has something new this year. They are launching a big Sun and Fun Day on August 13. There will be all kinds of family entertainment and participation. You shouldn't miss this one.

For rainy days or times of relaxation borrow some books from your library. You might want to become better acquainted with the people of Africa who are very much in the news these days. That fascinating teller of tales, James Michener, has written a great novel about settlement in that vast continent. "The Covenant" is a good story and worth reading. Another intriguing book is "Cry of the Kalahara" written by a young couple, Mark and Delia Owens, who spent several years living in isolation while studying the life and habits of small animals and mighty lions. Then there is "First Catch your Eland", the work of Laurens Vander Post, whose family settled in South Africa over three hundred years ago. He has travelled extensively through Africa, understands and loves its people. He tells of the settlement of the Portuguese, East Indian, French, Dutch and English. He is a great authority on food and gives details about diet and cooking, about the grains and the fruits used by this mixture of nationalities.

We enjoyed the Rock-hound Fair this weekend. Many people came to inspect the giant display of gems, minerals, rocks and beautiful stones. Professor Gorman was on hand to identify the minerals. A continual stream of people coming and going found much of interest in the contents of the tables with stones from all over the world clearly marked to show their origin, sparkling jewellery, ancient fossils buried in stone, clocks and pen holders mounted on polished stone and carved animals. Ken Binskin and Harry Ablett, the show co-ordinators, were well pleased with the event and plan to make this an annual affair.

Doing their best...

These happy youngsters made a determined effort to complete the three legged race which was part of Stanhope Fun Day's field day on Saturday.

Queen's Park aids farmers to make woodlands income

With the price of fuel being what it is these days, the woodlot is coming into its own again -- and not just as a source of cheap heat.

Demand for both softwoods and hardwoods is increasing to the point where it is expected to more than double by the early years of next century. That may be a long way off yet, but the fact is that there is a growing market for raw wood.

Obviously recognizing this, the Ontario Government, through the Ministry of Natural Resources, is offering three programs of interest to land owners. The largest is the Woodlands Improvement Program, through which incentive grants are available for reforesting or improving existing forestry stands on submarginal agricultural land. The MNR staff will prepare a work plan, estimate the costs of the forestry practices they prescribe, and either provide or pay for the necessary work.

The owner's side of the deal is that he must commit the land to forestry for 15 years, agree to give adequate protection, and purchase the trees for planting at a nominal cost. Depending on the nature of either the open land or the bush that needs tending, a person can have more than one agreement with the MNR.

The second is the Advisory Services Program, through which assistance is given in nearly every aspect related to trees and woodlands, including pest control. Under this program, MNR field staff will inspect a woodlot, inventory it, mark trees for cutting, and estimate the volume of marketable timber. The ministry will usually provide up to four days of free services per year.

The third is the Managed Forest Tax Reduction Program, through which owners can receive tax rebates on managed forest lands.

There will be egg races, balloon races, tug of war, nail pounding and log contest, canoe joust and horseshoe tosses are all part of the fun time. There will be free hay rides and a dunking pool and up to $250 will be given out in prizes. Games go from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be special prizes on hot dogs, hamburgers and other refreshments. If there should be rain then above events will go on Monday, August 5.

We enjoyed a pretty wedding held at the Anglican Church at Kinmount last Saturday, July 20, when Debbie Lettner became the bride of Dennis Stata, son of Mary and Albert Stata. Deb is the daughter of John and Enelle Lettner, who have a home on the Davis Lake Road and live in Don Mills. The reception was held at the Galway Hall, where all enjoyed a roast beef dinner.

Did you know that the Baptist Church at Norland are again having their usual outdoor Sunday night services? Come as you are, and sit relaxed in your car and take in the outdoor services. Lots of good music by different guests and a good gospel message.

Winners in the seniors card games held in Coboconk Community Hall on Tuesday evening were as follows: Euchre - Judy McDonald, 79; Hazel Young, 79; most lone hands, Alma Rettie, 7; consolation, Daisy Faulkner, Men's - Bruce Calhoun, 70; Jean Barkwell, 67; most lone hands, Ivy Boyce, 4; consolation, Bert Adams, 47; Bridge - Connie Upton, 6190; Marion Holland, 5120; consolation, Rose Rocchio, 1460.

Mrs. Bella Ernburry of Beechville and several other family members have been visiting her relatives here, including the families of Mary Wilkinson, Elva Hannivian, Edna Pearce, Carman Pearce and Olive Austen, as well as cousins here.

The Coboconk Area Trade Association has announced plans for two big weekends when 150 Canadian artists will have their work on display. If you are an art buff this is your chance to see the talent that our fellow Canadians have and meet a few artists. President Guy Gislason has big expectations for this event and I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you see the beautiful pieces of art work.

Apparently Bexley and Somerville Townships are going to lose a school board trustee, after Victoria County council passed the necessary by-law last Wednesday, during the regular meeting. School districts are determined by assessment so there is nothing local townships can do. Susan Dinwoodie is the rep. from Bexley, while Nonie Campbell of Burnt River represents Somerville Township.

On hearing that the building site at Norland Community Hall has lost some roof sheathing, one wonders what will next disappear. It seems thieves will carry off anything, be it a large, awkward piece of plywood or a hammer - even the tall poles with lights do not seem to be a deterrent. If and when thieves are caught, they should be made carry the plywood up to the roof building and put them to work in the hot sun for a week. Such people should have to suffer for their wrongdoing.

Mrs. F. Nesbitt celebrated her birthday last Sunday and several of her family were there to wish her well, including sons Ed, Bob and Norman and their families; also son Ron's family and sister-in-law, Lila Warburton and her daughter-in-law from Minden.

Mrs. Mary Limrick enjoyed a visit with her cousins, Mrs. Vincent Nolan of Wilberforce last week.

The annual Brohm reunion will be coming up on August 17 for all you of the Brohm clan. I'll have more details later.

'DAD' curbs drunk drivers

By GERALD IRISH
To help reduce the incidences of drinking and driving in our county, the Haliburton Legion Branch 129 will be starting a campaign called "DAD" - "Designated Abstaining Driver".

Groups coming to the Legion can appoint one of their number as DAD, the Designated Abstaining Driver, and that person will be treated to free soft drinks or coffee, compliments of the Legion, throughout their visit to our Branch. He or she will be given a badge to wear naming him or her the designated driver for the group. In this way we will help ensure our members and guests arrive home safely.

Let's all work together to help reduce the incidences of death or injuries due to drinking drivers.

The Legion Carnival held on July 23 and 24 was a great success. Things got off to a slower start on Tuesday but the enthusiasm and momentum increased as parade time approached on Wednesday. The parade route was lined with people who appeared to enjoy the lengthy parade and the many and varied entries involved. Judging the parade fell into two categories: the best marching unit and the best float in the parade.

Tony Basciano, District Sergeant at Arms, judged the marching units and selected the Lindsay contingent as the best. Murray Fearrey, Reeve of Dysart et al, and Vera Dean, president of the Branch 129 Ladies' Auxiliary, judged the floats and the winner in this category was Paradise Cove Tent and Trailer Park.

Following the parade, president Joan Irish announced the winners and the presentation of the trophies were made by Mr. Basciano and Gerald Irish.

After the parade the large crowd went to the ball park to enjoy the activities of the midway. Many people eventually made their way to the Legion auditorium to dance to the music of "Cimarron". During the dance three draws were made for $1000 prizes. The winners were: Rich Harrison of Minden, A.J. Klockhoff of Kinnmount and Carman Coumb of Tory Hill.

Any event, such as this carnival, requires the co-operation and full effort of all involved and Branch 129 received tremendous assistance from many people. Thank you, everyone who helped.

If you and your teens are interested in Cadets, keep the evening of September 12 free. On that day, at 7:30 p.m. there will be an information meeting regarding Please turn to page 21

These youngsters rode in the CHACE Place float during the Haliburton Legion carnival parade last Wednesday. Their float, pulled by a three wheeled cycle, was appropriately the smallest in the parade.

Summer supper set

Carnarvon News

Mrs. Mary McPhail of Port Rowan has been spending some time with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruby McKay, while her son Hugh and family are vacationing at Sleepy Hollow.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Bill McKay on Saturday night for a stag party for Keith Thomas, who ends his bachelor days on Saturday, August 3, when he marries Susan Barnhart of Pine Springs at Minden United Church.

On Sunday, August 4 the Glad Tidings group under the able leadership of Jock Mavor will present a musical evening at Zion United Church at 7 p.m. The usual summer evening service held at Twelve Mile will not be held that night; it will be at the Carnarvon Church instead, so come on and join us. It is a treat not to be missed.

Be sure to mark August 8 on your calendar, when Carnarvon ladies put on their famous annual summer dinner. Tickets are seven dollars for adults and four dollars for children. Tickets are available from Velda Harrison at 489-2816 and Fran Clark at 489-2886. There are three sittings beginning at 5 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. See you there.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carpenter were in Fenelon Falls for the weekend where they attended the 25th wedding anniversary of Albert's brother.

Mrs. Betty Sanylouff of Toronto spent a few days with Mrs. Velda Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Max McKay will be at the Toronto International Airport this weekend to meet Anne's nephew, Graham Donaldson and his wife Donna, of Cheshire, England, who will be spending the month of August with them.

Mrs. Gay Archer of London and Lake Boskung is leaving on Sunday for a vacation in Ireland. We hope she has a safe and happy time there.

We had a pleasant surprise on Wednesday, when we were taken to dinner at the Nordic Inn in Dorset by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Devitt to commemorate our 25 years association with them at Camp Comak and Comak Acres. It was most enjoyable. Please turn to page 21

Norland News

by Kelly Graham

Sunny skies for the Coby fair? What has in the past seemed an impossible dream may well be the weather forecast this year. Let's hope so, so that the annual fair will enjoy its usual success (success that has always been in spite of the rain!)

The big day has almost arrived! This Saturday, August 2, Norland's second annual talent and craft show will take place at Ward Park in Norland. Last year the show drew crowds of people, none of whom were disappointed.

The same weekend Pioneer Days will be the big attraction down the Cobconk way.

The festival will take place on Sunday, August 3 as well as Saturday, August 2. On Saturday there will be a horse parade at one o'clock and a horse pull at two o'clock. On Sunday a Sports Day has been declared, although the donkey baseball game has been planned for Saturday night. This weekend is certainly going to be an active one for those in the area.

Guilford News

Come all you West Guilford runners and racers. The Heineken Yard is to be run on August 2 from Onandaga to the Rockcliffe at 4:30. There are prizes and trophies for three divisions - masters, open and junior. The funds from the $5 entry fee go to support AMICI, the children's summer camps throughout Ontario.

Congratulations to David and Janet Bain on the arrival of their second daughter,

Jessica Lindsay. We look forward to seeing this new pride and joy at the earliest opportunity.

Holly and Sylvia Sisson's daughter, Juanita and son Matthew are home for a holiday from Westaskiwin, Alberta.

The Scottish country dancers were part of the Stanhope Fun Day. We are at various levels of advancement, including several beginners. If you would care to join us at practice, we are upstairs at the Legion every Monday evening this summer.

On Sunday, August 4 Jock Mavor and the Glad Tidings Gospel Group from Wexford Presbyterian Church in Scarborough will lead a hymn-sing in the Christian Education Building of Zion United Church, Carnarvon. This service is in lieu of the hymn-sing at Twelve Mile Lake Church. It begins at 7 p.m. and will be followed by refreshments and fellowship.

Bill and Trudy Portengen of Maple Lake are celebrating their 30th anniversary on July 29.

Ski Shufflers plan ahead

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

We are sorry to report that Christian Madill is still a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. She is suffering from the results of breaking her hip and from ulcers on her leg. We hope for better news soon.

Don Reil, with his son, John, of Melbourne, spent a week's holiday with his parents, Vera and Walter Reil.

Parents and grandparents of Scott Hunter drove to Kingston last Monday to visit Scott, who is taking a bandman's course at the Royal Military College there.

They also enjoyed a tour of the R.M.C., the museum, and Fort Frederick, where they witnessed the drill and battle tactics of the military tattoo there.

Mary Maxwell and her son, Gerry, of Marmora, and an older son, Bob, of Vancouver, visited with Vivian and Tommy Dovell last week.

Some 16 bridge players met at the school in Gooderham last Tuesday evening. The player with the highest score was Tony Dymott, while your reporter came second, thanks to good cards and good partners!

The first meeting of the "Glamorgan Ski Shufflers", a cross-country skiing club, was held last Tuesday evening in the community centre. A tentative committee to help promote cross-country skiing in and out of the township was formed.

The club is looking for new members who would like to join in this healthful sport.

It is open to all year-round and seasonal residents of all ages. As a club member you can enjoy access to special "out" events, as well as learning the skills and safety rules of this activity.

Mrs. Lulu Dovell, 91 years young, had the misfortune to slip and fall, resulting in a broken wrist. This will slow up her needlework but we hope she will soon be able to use her hand quite freely again.

Clifford and Priscilla Mintz have just returned from Ni-pigon, where they visited their daughter, Donna, and her husband, Doug Simmons. They also were present for the wedding at Red Rock of their granddaughter, Janice, to George Sutton.

Other guests from this area were: Elgin and Yvonne MacDuff; Wayne and Judy Stoughton; Murray and Wendy Hunter; Bob and Carol Young; Gordon Taylor and Richard Matthew.

The Nipigon "sunset country" is famous for its fishing. Priscilla, an ardent angler, thoroughly enjoyed the speckled trout caught there by some of the guests.

Congratulations go to our Gooderham men's ball team.

Last Sunday they came up with a win when they met Snowdon. This four-pointer was a good close game as the score, 8-7, indicates. This makes eight consecutive undefeated games for our team, quite a record.

Later that day they went to Wilberforce for the "Country Good Times" celebration where they took part in the tournament, winning against the Wilberforce Volunteer Firemen. They then had to play for the A championship, another close game, which they won 1-0. Bill Travis received the most valuable player award. They provide an enjoyable afternoon each Sunday and deserve our support. After suffering from severe burns received in an accident over two weeks ago, Glen Graham died last Thursday morning in the Wellesley Hospital, Toronto. He was in his 56th year.

Glen was born, grew up and attended school in the Bear Lake area. Always a great worker, he, with his brother, Mossom, and his sons, had formed a logging and trucking business, known as Glen-Moss Enterprises Limited.

For some years he served Glamorgan Township as road superintendent and also as a member of the township council. Living in this area all his life, he as well known and highly respected.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, Goldie; four sons - Donald, Arnold, Peter and Michael; four grandchildren; his brother, Mossom and three sisters - Dorothy, Ruth and Mary.

Funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon at the United Church. Interment took place at the Glamorgan cemetery.

The large number of those who came to pay their respects testified to the esteem in which he was held.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

This display of arts and crafts in the Stanhope municipal garage was one of the highlights of the township's annual fun day on Saturday. The event attracted scores of families to the grounds around the Stanhope Firefighters Hall, and included a beef barbecue, as well as games and competitions.

Blessings fall silently like dew on roses.

on Head Lake at the town dock with a $5 fee. Registration Saturday, August 3 from 10 to 6 at the town dock and Sunday, August 4 from 7 to 10 at the museum. There will be lucky draws, a beer garden and a barbecue.

Household Hint: To remove mildew stains soak in milk for 48 hours or rub with lemon juice and salt.

Recipe for this week: Spinach Salad - 1 package lemon Jello, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 or 2 tbsp. vinegar, 1/4 cup salad dressing (mayonnaise), 1 cup raw spinach, torn into small pieces, 1/2 cup celery, diced, 1 small onion, chopped, 1/4 cup cottage cheese, 1 tsp. salt. Dance proceeds go to tornado fund

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things in which smiles and kindness and small obligations, given habitually, are what win and preserve the heart and secure comfort.

A recent visitor to the village was Caroline Fisher of Niagara Falls, widow of the late Dr. Sam Fisher. The Fishers have been coming to the area since the early thirties and occupied a summer home on Paint Lake for many years. They were well known in the vicinity and have many friends here.

The community centre building fund committee are holding a bake sale and flea market on Saturday, August 3, beginning at 10 a.m. The bake sale will be in the community centre and the flea market across the street at the fire hall. All proceeds go to the building fund. This is a community effort and everyone is asked for donations of baking and donations to the flea market. If we want to see the temperature rise on the thermometer we have to contribute to the efforts to raise funds.

The Dorset Lions Club are planning a dance for Saturday, August 3 at 9 p.m. at the Dorset Community Centre. Music will be provided by disc jockey Robert McLaughlin. The proceeds from the dance are going to help the Central Ontario Tornado Disaster Fund. Let's have a good attendance for a good cause and a fun evening.

Welcome visitors at my home last week were Mrs. Edith Roberts Bottomly, her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wall and her grandson, David Wall. The family live in the Toronto area and have a cottage in the Gravenhurst area. Mrs. Bottomly was one time a resident of Dorset when her parents, the Roberts, owned and operated

Legionnaires honoured Norland cenotaph

Kinmount Korner

On Sunday, July 21, from 1:00 p.m. to approximately 6 p.m., our "Coby" and area Navy League Cadets, three of the officers, vice president Ivan Luff, along with some family members, were joined with some 25 or 30 cadets and officers of the N.L.C.C. Shomley Barrie Corps in an enjoyable day. A giant barbecue, baseball, swimming and other sports were held. A big thank you to Larry Baldwin who gave the use of his ranch land at Head Lake for the day and to a number of the family members who dug right in with helping hands. It was appreciated!

Congratulations and happy years ahead are wished for the new Mr. and Mrs. Stata who were married Saturday, July 20.

Some 170 guests were served a salad supper by the A.C.W. of St. James Anglican Church at the Kinmount Community Hall on Saturday, July 20. I've told it was a huge success and people were asking when the ladies would be having their next dinner. The next time will be the annual turkey dinner so watch for signs and this column for dates. Thanks to all who helped with the salad supper.

The Haliburton Lions Club present their "August Shenanigans" on Sunday, August 4 beginning at 10:00 a.m. It sounds like a terrific day with lucky draws, beer garden and barbecue, a timed canoe rally and a thousand dollar tagged fish contest (that would make some kind of fish story). A registration fee of $3 per person to enter the canoe rally and $5 per person to get in on the fish contest and registration forms are now available at Kennedy Surplus, Driftwood Restaurant and Bennett Motors. Watch the Haliburton Echo for further details. All the events will be taking place at the museum. Come out with your friends and enjoy a fun day.

The next Kinmount Civic Action Committee Flea Market will be held at the Kinmount Railway Station on August 3 beginning at 10 a.m. to about 4 p.m. If you wish to participate you can rent a space for $5 if you have your own table or $8 if you'd like to have the space plus a table. For further information you may call Marg Hockley at 488-2926.

parlour with possible future extensions. Welcome to our town, Kim and Martin, and may have many happy, prosperous years ahead.

Marion MacDonald, Bill Hughes, Mary Pyke, to name a few, were on the ailing list lately. I hope you'll be much better soon.

I was pleased to receive a phone call from Cindy Hill, our former neighbour, this past week. She and her husband Jim, along with young sons Adam and John are now living outside Minden.

May Campbell, who has been visiting us in Kinmount and her sister in Toronto, left last week for her Florida home. May says she will be back. Her health hasn't been the best of late and May thought she'd be better off at home.

Well folks, this old girl turned in the crutches last week and I am now getting around with the help of a cane.

Kawartha Summer Theatre Young Company presents for children young and not so young, "Twice Six Plus One" on Friday, August 9 at 3 p.m. at the Kinmount Community Centre, sponsored by the Victoria County Public Library. Get a group together and come out and enjoy the fun and it's all free.

Why not join your public library today? We have a very nice one right here in Kinmount and our librarian is Ruth Schultz.

Sympathy is extended to Goldie, all family and friends of A. Glenn Graham, who died in Toronto on Thursday, July 25 in this 56th year. Interment was at Gooderham

Cemetery.

The dedication of the Norland Cenotaph was held Sunday, July 28. Legion members from Cobocok, Fenelon Falls, Kinmount and Haliburton followed up by officers and cadets of the Navy League were piped in parade to the beautiful little park by the Gull River in Norland. Rotha Bryant, who is secretary-treasurer of the Norland Horticultural Society, acted as host spokesperson and did her usual wonderful job.

The large crowd who gathered to be part of this service joined in singing to the accompaniment of the Fenelon Falls Salvation Army Band. This was followed by a scripture reading by Reverend Arthur Bartlett. Bill Scott M.P., John Eakins M.P., Dave Graham, Reeve of Laxton, Digby, Longford; Clayton Cameron representing Somerville Township; Major Glynn Lewis, Deputy Reeve of Lutterworth Township and Mel Robertson, Zone Commander from Haliburton, all presented thought provoking speeches. Bill Scott and John Eakins then unveiled the monument followed by the Cadets, in the Legion auditorium. At that time Peter Krijnsen, General Manager of the Army Cadet League of Ontario, will be here to speak and to answer questions regarding the formation of Cadets at Branch 129.

Last Saturday evening the large crowd in the Club Room enjoyed the music of the Earl Wilfong Trio from Peterborough. Next Saturday will see the return of the ever popular Ed and Billy Picard.

Don't forget the Zone F4 Drumhead Service in Haliburton on Sunday, August 11. All regular and associate members are requested to be in full Legion dress for the parade on this day.

The District Drumhead Service will be held in Campbellford on September 29.

It is always difficult to say a final farewell to a friend. We were all saddened at the passing of Owen "Boney" Morrison. Boney was a valued friend, worker and supporter of Branch 129. Our sympathies and prayers go to Muriel and her family.

raising of the flag, a prayer of dedication, and the Last Post.

It was a beautiful day but before the service was finally completed, the heavens opened and the rains came. Everyone got soaked. If it could have only held off another 15 minutes.

Coffee, tea, pop and donuts were later served at Norland Town Hall where everything looked very pretty with tables decorated in white cloths with centre-pieces of freshly cut sweet peas, baby's breath, phlox

kers who took time from their busy schedules to appear on this prestigious day, to Rotha Bryant and Helen Graham who worked so hard in getting things together for the occasion, cleaning the hall, getting luncheon out to everyone, cleaning up later, and purple bells. Many thanks to the Horticultural members of Norland who made this beautiful cenotaph and brand new flag pole possible.

setting out chairs - all the little things no one ever seems to give thanks for.

If I have missed anyone in this write up I apologize but let me know. For all your hard work girls and I mustn't forget Vernon LeCraw and Roy Bryant, thank you. You did yourselves well and in my humble estimation, Norland now has a memorial to its war dead second to none.

Stay well, read The Echo and call me at 488-2353.

Highland Domain enchants a Count

Countess' son transforms a resort, and sets luxury precedents

By HAMISH GORDON
Staff Reporter

Based on the maxim that it takes all kinds to make a world, Haliburton County's haunting wilderness was recently responsible for attracting the elegance, sophistication and noble lineage of a genuine French count.

The Echo asked Count Eduard de Moustier for an interview last Saturday. He immediately obliged and suggested Sunday brunch at his 4 1/2 thousand acre, Domain de Killien luxury resort. Later, at their private Delf East Lake cottage, the de Moustiers spoke of themselves and of their relationship to the people and landscape of Haliburton County.

The first impression a visitor has, seeing the Count at his unpretentious lodge on the north end of Drag Lake, is that the Count and Countess de Moustier are surrounded by old friends from around the world.

His tall burly frame topped with a distinguished visage that is undeniably aristocratic French, commands the attention of all in the room.

Even when he slouches unobtrusively in a corner of the lounge in a deep armchair, listening intently to a story, his jocular laugh and deep voice, resonating with the rhythms of his native tongue, reveal his presence and focus attention on him.

Countess de Moustier is of French West Indian descent. Her silky complexion is ebony black but even in middle age she is vivacious and youthful.

The Count's own story of his first glimpse of her before they were formally introduced is a revealing tale.

"Many, many years ago, I was invited to a garden party at the British Embassy in Paris for the coronation of the Queen (Elizabeth). It was very formal; most of the people were wearing gray top hats. Then I saw a black girl, very lovely. But I said to myself this is the end of the empire." The Count enjoyed humouring himself as much as he did his guests. "I love joking with myself," he added.

The Countess also remembers her first impression of the Count 30 years ago. "You should have seen him in Paris; he was elegance personified, the way he dressed, and he has such a fantastic way of telling stories. I was never bored and that was the most important thing I needed."

Count de Moustier was hounded by the French press corps in those days, since he was considered to one of France's most eligible bachelors. Today, even though "he dresses like a wood cutter" and she's heard all the stories, they still treat each other like a courting couple.

The Count purchased Haliburton Lodge, and two massive tracts of land, in 1982. Since then the de Moustiers have been kept active by their passion for winter sports and entertaining the paying guests.

Regardless of the couple's position as proprietors, Dante Larcade, their 31 year old son, who is the chef and manager of Domain de Killien, treats his step-father and birth mother as if they were guests themselves. If they don't reserve a table for dinner they don't get served.

Not surprisingly, they fell more in love with the winter in the Highlands than with summer and spend much of their time on cross-country ski trails which are kept immaculately groomed throughout their private forests. The Countess' enthusiasm for snowmobiling ended soon after she got on one last year. She broke three ribs after crashing into the main lodge.

On Saturday, as the summer tourist season peaks in Haliburton, the de Moustiers will escape to the tranquility of their two estates in the West Indies, and relax on their 42 foot yacht, which the Count learned to navigate on a voyage across the Atlantic.

"We bought it in France many years ago and my wife said 'How are we going to get it over to the West Indies?' I said we would put it on a steamer, of course, like most people, because I didn't know how to navigate." But she insisted that they sail it across.

After weeks of trial and error navigation in his garden and off the west coast of France with a sextant he had borrowed from a friend, the Count pointed the vessel west toward the West Indies.

"The first days out of sight of land I was shivering...No one was ever happier than we were," when they arrived right on target 26 days later.

'Paris, Rome, Gstaad, Haliburton, who could ask for anything more?'

When they return to Haliburton in the fall, the Highlands will have returned to a more quiet state. But the de Moustiers' presence here has already proved to be economically auspicious.

From October 16th to 20th, 30 American travel agents, AAA representatives, tourism writers, coach tour planners and American government officials will visit the Haliburton Highlands to discover its resorts.

The highlight of their tour will be the Domain de Killien, according to Ann Axler, a Central Ontario Travel Association representative who will host the visit.

As for relations with local merchants, the Count says he enjoys doing business with them and he always prefers to buy locally. He and the Countess maintain a friendly, but distant mutual respect with local people which the Count hopes to preserve.

community) but Mr. McFadden (who did extensive renovations on some cabins) for example, is still Mr. McFadden."

The formal address, he says, "has a charm. It's not snobbery, it's just being careful. And the formal address is an act of reconnaissance that impeaches the aggressivity between people."

As in many traditional French families, Count de Moustier addresses his mother in the polite "vous" form rather than the familiar "tu".

When asked how he and the Countess would like to be addressed, Count de Moustier tried to avoid the question but finally said "Madame or Monsieur de Moustier or just Count and Countess."

Count de Moustier is trying hard not to compromise the time honoured social customs that he left behind so recently in the old country.

"I don't want to be like every other Canadian," he said.

The de Moustiers began their life in the new world by retiring to a modest residence in the heart of Haliburton village in 1981. Renovations at the Domain de Killien were carried out later. The de Moustiers are still living in the village until they build their own house on their private Ritchie Lake.

Count de Moustier had previously spent 37 years of his life working, rather than wallowing in the aristocratic ways inherited from his ancestral past.

However, Dante Larcade, 31, son of the Countess, 56, and stepson to the Count, 61, was the real catalyst that kept the de Moustiers in Haliburton. Larcade made the Domain de Killien a viable enterprise and fulfilled the dream that his parents yearned for. Money was not the issue. Economic feasibility however and a charming friendly ambience, in and around the estate was.

Their dream was no different from any ordinary Canadian - to own, live and work in a quiet piece of wilderness far from the madding crowds. The de Moustiers' dream was merely on a grander scale, about 5,000 acres grander than the average Canadian's.

The main topic of conversation over a sumptuous brunch of freshly cooked ham, ratatouille, a joint of roast lamb and scrambled eggs, all prepared by their son, the chef, was trees.

While the Countess spoke of exotic tropical tree species on her native island, St. Thomas, in the West Indies, the Count expressed opinions on forest management in France compared to the Ministry of Natural Resources' techniques of management and reforestation.

He was delighted and enthusiastic to find that the MNR wanted to co-operate with him as a landowner under the Woodlands Improvement Act.

He felt that his experience and knowledge of land and forest management on his estates in

To explain his concept of friendship the Count quoted from a popular French children's book called 'Le Petite Prince'. "The story goes that a little boy has a friend who is a flower and he says to himself, 'I musn't pick it, I must go very slowly.' It's very difficult to explain the French custom because English is not my first language. But I think people are very shocked by the fact that I don't like to use first names." It just doesn't feel natural to call everybody that one meets, "Jim, Ted, and Bob, it doesn't mean anything," de Moustier tried to explain.

"On the contrary I feel there is a beauty in the understatement," to say Mr., Mrs. and Miss.

"I feel very close to some people (in the

France and the West Indies, coupled with MNR techniques, would eventually transform his bush country into the splendour and majesty comparable to his old Killien forest in Brittany, France.

But his guests at brunch from Toronto were even more intrigued when the Count displayed his talent as a "raconteur", something he obviously enjoys.

It was his wilderness in the Highlands that he was impatient to show his new guests, however.

The tranquility of the Domain de Killien and Delf East Lake served as an idyllic alternative to retirement at his majestic Killien forest estate in Brittany, France. The estate has been passed down through the de Moustier family since the 13th century.

During a 10 minute drive along old logging trails, Count de Moustier began recounting the family history.

"On my mother's side, which is a very small part of the family, my grandmother (of Brittany origin) brought the Killien into the family as a dowry, a property which he liked very much and where I spent my summer holidays as a child. It has shrunk since the French Revolution, but we are still very attached to it."

His family back in France jokingly refer to the Haliburton property as the "New Killien in the Highlands or in the new world," he said.

When his account of the history became complicated, the Countess attempted to clarify it, but she was occasionally foiled by the number of estates still in the family back in France and which side of the family they had come from. It was not easy to recall precisely the ancient lineage of the kings of Europe, many of whom were related through inter marriage of royal blood lines.

When the logging trail became too rough, the Count said "we have to walk from here," to Lake Delf East.

Having distanced himself a few paces from the Countess he asked his guest for a cigarette and was obliged. But the Countess, down wind, said "Oh no you don't" and scolded the Count in French. He reacted sheepishly and handed back the lit cigarette to his guest but stole an occasional puff when she wasn't looking.

Despite his portly figure the Count marched up and down the hills with ease. At the end of the road, on a bluff of rock, the Count said, "Voila" indicating the awesome beauty of Lake Delf East.

Barely visible among the trees on the other side of the lake was the isolated log cabin where the couple had been staying. It is only accessible by boat.

Anxious to be there, Count de Moustier whisked his guest off the bluff down to the boat launch where two row boats sat waiting on the shore.

He launched one himself, beckoned his guests to board and began rowing the half-mile to the other side of the lake. When the Echo offered to row the strenuous distance with four people, the Countess said, "forget it, he never lets anybody do the rowing."

The Count made excuses that he knew the waterways and that only he knew how to use the oar locks which weren't properly fixed to the aluminum craft.

Once at the cottage, which had no running water, the Count and Countess made their guests comfortable, like ordinary country folk would.

Cookies and coffee were set on the table as the de Moustiers laughed and told intriguing stories of the old days in Paris when life was more decadent than it is today.

Before the Countess met Count de Moustier she was a commoner, but from an equally sophisticated family. In her profession as a dancer, model and actress, she broke new ground that made black models and dancers more socially acceptable.

The press in France made hay of the de Moustiers' marriage and the couple shocked many of their colleagues in the social elite.

But today the Count and Countess feel less prejudice in Europe than they have seen in travelling through the United States.

Why does a Count relinquish his elite social status in Paris to settle in the backwoods of Haliburton County?

"The real incentive in coming to Canada," he said, was to escape the political machinations and the nuclear threat in Europe. The de Moustiers were also fed up with French President Francois Mitterand's regressive socialist system, which is taxing the rich to the hilt and lacks free enterprise, Count de Moustier says.

Throughout Europe "there is a risk. The Russians have 130 divisions (his own uneducated guess) ready and we (in France) have nothing" with which to fight back.

And economically, "the problem is very simple. If you have any wealth, you can pay much more taxes than your income. And I know people who pay two or three times more taxes than their income. Nobody can survive like that," Count de Moustier said, with typically French exasperation.

Countess de Moustier interjects by pleading her son's case.

"Dante had a little (art) gallery and restaurant in the Marais, (the heart of the old city of Paris) that was doing very well. But he was not allowed to change his prices!" under the new Mitterand government, she said.

"But the real incentive (in coming to Canada) is the general idea that Europe is unsafe (with the shadow of a nuclear threat hanging over it)" the Count concluded.

"My (two) brothers (one in Switzerland and one in Paris) and I and my Mother, (also in Switzerland), we wanted to have something on this side of the Atlantic. We thought it would be nice in the States or Canada. Finally it became Canada, Canada became Ontario, Ontario became Haliburton," Count de Moustier said.

Chef sees lodge as a challenge

As for the elite social set he left behind, "Wherever we go, they follow," he said, which was obvious by the camaraderie he enjoyed with the resort's year round clientele of financiers, publishers and famous entertainers, many of whom are flown in by plane and land on Drag Lake.

Until 1982 Haliburton Lodge, at the far north end of Drag Lake, was just another lodge. Today it is a hauntingly beautiful but unpretentious throne of French aristocracy that recreates the genuine old world French ambience of a home away from home for the de Moustiers and their guests.

Gayle and Guy Shulman, guests from Los Angeles who stayed at the Domain de Killien last weekend wrote in the lodge's guest book:

"Thank you for sharing your home with us. Paris, Rome, Gstaad, Haliburton, who could ask for anything more? We are sad to leave, we will remember this time always as very special," the Shulmans wrote.

They were so sad, Axler said, "they were

taking anti-depressant pills at the thought of going back to L.A. on the last day."

The Shulmans stayed an extra couple of days and wrote again in the guest book before they forced themselves to leave: "Dante et al, thank you again for everything, the elegance, the style, the Domain state of mind. Thank you for our new piece of paradise."

But the driving force behind the Domain's air of passive elegance and sophistication is their son, Dante Larcade, who rescued the resort business in April 1984.

The Count's initial intention of buying Haliburton Lodge and the surrounding acreage was to have the previous owners operate the resort for them, because, Count de Moustier says, he had no experience or knowledge of how to run a resort business.

He merely wanted to enjoy the wilderness and not worry about business after spending many years as the West Indian branch president of the Liquid-Air Corporation, which produces 60 per cent of Canada's pressurized oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen.

But the previous owners of the lodge did not share the de Moustiers' idea of recreating a new France in microcosm. Their culture was of German persuasion.

The de Moustiers were ready to pull out of Haliburton when the Countess' son, Dante Larcade, said he too was ready to retire from the fast social pace of life in Paris.

"I see this as a challenge. I was fed up with the high life; too many people, hours and the fast (social) pace" of keeping a gallery and restaurant going, Larcade said.

"I'll be here indefinitely."

Elite guests are overwhelmed

Larcade now works as hard or harder as the manager and chef of the Domain de Killien as he did in his Paris restaurant-gallery, La Caillou Blanch, which was written up in many exclusive Parisienne restaurant guide books.

In his kitchen he produces the "best French cuisine in all of Haliburton - indeed probably one of the best French restaurants on the continent, I do not exaggerate," publisher of T.O. magazine, Bobby Rotenberg wrote in a letter to the Globe and Mail's restaurant critic, Joanne Kates this month.

From his kitchen Larcade also directs his staff and was even fixing a whirlpool tub component during his brief interview with the Echo.

Count de Moustier also likes to help his stepson with the resort's accounts while he lives in the village of Haliburton.

Educated as a doctorate of French law, Count de Moustier says he never used his university education in his career with the Liquid Air Corporation. Yet he evidently enjoyed the world of free enterprise despite his wealth.

Money and possessions are not important for the deMoustiers the Count says, but their customs and a civilized way of life are.

After spending four hours in the log cabin exchanging life's experience and ideologies with his guest the Count felt it only fitting to propose a toast.

He produced a bottle of 12 year old, Bells Deluxe Scotch from a kitchenette cupboard and a stack of styrofoam cups. After charging his guests to lift their cups he said, "Here's to the people of Canada so that they can discover that the real Canada is here in Haliburton."

Then he said, "You know I would walk all day if I could be guaranteed to see a full grown bull moose, just to look at it."

The Count used to be a hunter in France, the Countess said, but now he's a preserver. And that is why they are here amid the majestic forests and lakes of Haliburton County.

Boat landings are inadequate

Wilberforce
News

by Winnie Schofield

Public access to water is a necessary requirement for a tourist area, providing a place to park your car and launch your boat, to do a little fishing and to enjoy the peace and beauty of the lake. These landings are available at many of the lakes in this township and neighbouring areas but many of them prove to be unsuitable through rough roads, steep inclines and poor parking facilities.

A check of various public landings shows three to be in excellent condition. These three have been set up by the Ministry of Natural Resources and contain good parking and adequate docks. They are to be found at Loon Lake, Little Esson on Cedar Lake and North Bay Paudash. Otter Lake landing could do with some improvement but is superior to that of Farquhar Lake. At Benore Lake there is a sudden drop to the water and there are many old tree stumps in the way that should be removed. Clement Lake, maintained by Monmouth Township, has no parking and cars must be left on the highway. At Wilberforce the water is too shallow and weedy. Three lakes very difficult to get to with a vehicle are Elephant, Grace and Bucksin. One of the very worst for access is Upper Cardiff Lake. The condition of these public landings should be of concern to the Chamber of Commerce and steps taken to provide more convenience for our visitors who do not own property on the lakes.

Some items left over from Country Good Times: Minor Hockey Club members have been working hard to help finance the club. Among those involved is Bob Anderson, who can be seen every Thursday evening running the Bingo games at the Community Centre. Bob's whole family are there to help out. On the holiday weekend members of the Minor Hockey League ran the snack bar in the arena and held a 50/50 draw. The lucky winner of this was Daniel Chasim of Richmond Hill.

The results of the amateur talent show are as follows: senior first place winner was Steve Clothier of Harcourt. Second place was won by Marlene Main of Harcourt. Third place went to Sheila Coleman of Harcourt and Shelley Hubert of Cambridge. In the junior competition Shelley Hubert took first place with second place going to Caroline MacGowan of Cedar Lake. The Hughes brothers quartet of Wilberforce won third place. Dale Coghlin of Picton won honourable mention. Harcourt seems to have an abundance of talent. Congratulations to all.

One of the interesting programs planned for this year is the Monmouth Agricultural Fair which takes place August 9, 10 and 11. Many fine events will take place at this time. It is the second year for the fair and first attempt to go it alone. It is to be hoped that this annual fair will prove to be a popular tourist attraction. There will be a parade on Saturday, August 10 at 1 p.m. and the association is looking for prizes for the best float, the best decorated bike, best service club float, best antique farm machine float, best turned out horse and rider and best clown. Those wishing to enter should get in touch with P. Jorden at 448-2657 or E. Saxby at 448-2493. Fair books containing regulations and information are available. An Amateur Talent Show will be held in the arena at 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 10. Those wishing to take part please register at that time.

The Red Cross has something new this year. They are launching a big Sun and Fun Day on August 13. There will be all kinds of family entertainment and participation. You shouldn't miss this one.

For rainy days or times of relaxation borrow some books from your library. You might want to become better acquainted with the people of Africa who are very much in the news these days. That fascinating teller of tales, James Michener, has written a great novel about settlement in that vast continent. "The Covenant" is a good story and worth reading. Another intriguing book is "Cry of the Kalahara" written by a young couple, Mark and Delia Owens, who spent several years living in isolation while studying the life and habits of small animals and mighty lions. Then there is "First Catch your Eland", the work of Laurens Vander Post, whose family settled in South Africa over three hundred years ago. He has travelled extensively through Africa, understands and loves its people. He tells of the settlement of the Portuguese, East Indian, French, Dutch and English. He is a great authority on food and gives details about diet and cooking, about the grains and the fruits used by this mixture of nationalities.

We enjoyed the Rock-hound Fair this weekend. Many people came to inspect the giant display of gems, minerals, rocks and beautiful stones. Professor Gorman was on hand to identify the minerals. A continual stream of people coming and going found much of interest in the contents of the tables with stones from all over the world clearly marked to show their origin, sparkling jewelry, ancient fossils buried in stone, clocks and pen holders mounted on polished stone and carved animals. Ken Binskin and Harry Ablett, the show co-ordinators, were well pleased with the event and plan to make this an annual affair.

Doing their best...

These happy youngsters made a determined effort to complete the three legged race which was part of Stanhope Fun Day's field day on Saturday.

Queen's Park aids farmers to make woodlands income

With the price of fuel being what it is these days, the woodlot is coming into its own again -- and not just as a source of cheap heat.

Demand for both softwoods and hardwoods is increasing to the point where it is expected to more than double by the early years of next century. That may be a long way off yet, but the fact is that there is a growing market for raw wood.

Obviously recognizing this, the Ontario Government, through the Ministry of Natural Resources, is offering three programs of interest to land owners. The largest is the Woodlands Improvement Program, through which incentive grants are available for reforesting or improving existing forestry stands on submarginal agricultural land. The MNR staff will prepare a work plan, estimate the costs of the forestry practices they prescribe, and either provide or pay for the necessary work.

The owner's side of the deal is that he must commit the land to forestry for 15 years, agree to give adequate protection, and purchase the trees for planting at a nominal cost. Depending on the nature of either the open land or the bush that needs tending, a person can have more than one agreement with the MNR.

The second is the Advisory Services Program, through which assistance is given in nearly every aspect related to trees and woodlands, including pest control. Under this program, MNR field staff will inspect a woodlot, inventory it, mark trees for cutting, and estimate the volume of marketable timber. The ministry will usually provide up to four days of free services per year.

The third is the Managed Forest Tax Reduction Program, through which owners can receive tax rebates on managed forest lands.

There will be egg races, balloon races, tug of war, nail pounding and log contest, canoe joust and horseshoe tosses. There will be free hay rides and a dunking pool and up to $250 will be given out in prizes. Games go from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be special prizes on hot dogs, hamburgers and other refreshments. If there should be rain then above events will go on Monday, August 5.

Saturday, the 3rd will be the usual donkey baseball game, horse pull, a parade and lots of amusement rides for the kiddies. All this begins at 1 p.m.

We enjoyed a pretty wedding held at the Anglican Church at Kimmount last Saturday, July 20, when Debbie Lettner became the bride of Dennis Stata, son of Mary and Albert Stata. Deb is the daughter of John and Enelle Lettner, who have a home on the Davis Lake Road and live in Don Mills. The reception was held at the Galway Hall, where all enjoyed a roast beef dinner.

Did you know that the Baptist Church at Norland are again having their usual outdoor Sunday night services? Come as you are, and sit relaxed in your car and take in the outdoor services. Lots of good music by different guests and a good gospel message.

Winners in the seniors card games held in Coboconk Community Hall on Tuesday evening were as follows: Euchre - Judy McDonald, 79; Hazel Young, 79; most lone hands, Alina Rettie, 7; consolation, Daisy Faulkner. Men's - Bruce Calhoun, 70; Jean Barkwell, 67; most lone hands, Ivy Boyce, 4; consolation, Bert Adams, 47. Bridge - Connie Upton, 6190; Marion Holland, 5120; consolation, Rose Rocchio, 1460.

Mrs. Bella Ernburry of Beechville and several other family members have been visiting her relatives here, including the families of Mary Wilkinson, Elva Hannivan, Edna Pearce, Carman Pearce and Olive Austen, as well as cousins here.

The Coboconk Area Trade Association has announced plans for two big weekends when 150 Canadian artists will have their work on display. If you are an art buff this is your chance to see the talent that our fellow Canadians have and meet a few artists. President Guy Gilson has big expectations for this event and I'm sure you won't be disappointed when you see the beautiful pieces of art work.

Apparently Bexley and Somerville Townships are going to lose a school board trustee, after Victoria County council passed the necessary by-law last Wednesday, during the regular meeting. School districts are determined by assessment so there is nothing local townships can do. Susan Dinwoodie is the rep. from Bexley, while Nonie Campbell of Burnt River represents Somerville Township.

On hearing that the building site at Norland Community Hall has lost some roof sheathing, one wonders what will next disappear. It seems thieves will carry off anything, be it a large, awkward piece of plywood or a hammer - even the tall poles with lights do not seem to be a deterrent. If and when thieves are caught, they should be made carry the plywood up to the roof building and put them to work in the hot sun for a week. Such people should have to suffer for their wrongdoing.

Mrs. F. Nesbitt celebrated her birthday last Sunday and several of her family were there to wish her well, including sons Ed, Bob and Norman and their families; also son Ron's family and sister-in-law, Lila Warburton and her daughter-in-law from Minden.

Mrs. Mary Limrick enjoyed a visit with her cousins, Mrs. Vincent Nolan of Wilberforce last week.

The annual Brohm reunion will be coming up on August 17 for all you of the Brohm clan. I'll have more details later.

'DAD' curbs drunk drivers

By GERALD IRISH
To help reduce the incidence of drinking and driving in our county, the Haliburton Legion Branch 129 will be starting a campaign called "DAD" - "Designated Abstaining Driver".

Groups coming to the Legion can appoint one of their number as DAD, the Designated Abstaining Driver, and that person will be treated to free soft drinks or coffee, compliments of the Legion, throughout their visit to our Branch. He or she will be given a badge to wear naming him or her the designated driver for the group. In this way we will help ensure our members and guests arrive home safely.

Let's all work together to help reduce the incidences of death or injuries due to drinking drivers.

The Legion Carnival held on July 23 and 24 was a great success. Things got off to a slower start on Tuesday but the enthusiasm and momentum increased as parade time approached on Wednesday. The parade route was lined with people who appeared to enjoy the lengthy parade and the many and varied entries involved. Judging the parade fell into two categories: the best marching unit and the best float in the parade.

Tony Basciano, District Sergeant at Arms, judged the marching units and selected the Lindsay contingent as the best. Murray Fearrey, Reeve of Dysart et al, and Vera Dean, president of the Branch 129 Ladies' Auxiliary, judged the floats and the winner in this category was Paradise Cove Tent and Trailer Park.

Following the parade, president Joan Irish announced the winners and the presentation of the trophies were made by Mr. Basciano and Gerald Irish.

After the parade the large crowd went to the ball park to enjoy the activities of the midway. Many people eventually made their way to the Legion auditorium to dance to the music of "Cimarron". During the dance three draws were made for $1000 prizes. The winners were: Rich Harrison of Minden, A.J. Klockhoff of Kinnmount and Carman Coumb of Tory Hill.

Any event, such as this carnival, requires the co-operation and full effort of all involved and Branch 129 received tremendous assistance from many people. Thank you, everyone who helped.

If you and your teens are interested in Cadets, keep the evening of September 12 free. On that day, at 7:30 p.m. there will be an information meeting regarding

Summer supper set

Carnarvon News

Mrs. Mary McPhail of Port Rowan has been spending some time with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruby McKay, while her son Hugh and family are vacationing at Sleepy Hollow.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Bill McKay on Saturday night for a stag party for Keith Thomas, who ends his bachelor days on Saturday, August 3, when he marries Susan Barnhart of Pine Springs at Minden United Church.

On Sunday, August 4 the Glad Tidings group under the able leadership of Jock Mavor will present a musical evening at Zion United Church at 7 p.m. The usual summer evening service held at Twelve Mile will not be held that night; it will be at the Carnarvon Church instead, so come on and join us. It is a treat not to be missed.

Be sure to mark August 8 on your calendar, when Carnarvon ladies put on their famous annual summer dinner. Tickets are seven dollars for adults and four dollars for children. Tickets are available from Velda Harrison at 489-2816 and Fran Clark at 489-2886. There are three sittings beginning at 5 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. See you there.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carpenter were in Fenelon Falls for the weekend where they attended the 25th wedding anniversary of Albert's brother.

Mrs. Betty Sanylouff of Toronto spent a few days with Mrs. Velda Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Max McKay will be at the Toronto International Airport this weekend to meet Anne's nephew, Graham Donaldson and his wife Donna, of Cheshire, England, who will be spending the month of August with them.

Mrs. Gay Archer of London and Lake Boskung is leaving on Sunday for a vacation in Ireland. We hope she has a safe and happy time there.

We had a pleasant surprise on Wednesday, when we were taken to dinner at the Nordic Inn in Dorset by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Devitt to commemorate our 25 years' association with them at Camp Comak and Comak Acres. It was most enjoyable.

Norland News

Sunny skies for the Coby fair? What has in the past seemed an impossible dream may well be the weather forecast this year. Let's hope so, so that the annual fair will enjoy its usual success (success that has always been in spite of the rain!)

The big day has almost arrived! This Saturday, August 2, Norland's second annual talent and craft show will take place at Ward Park in Norland. Last year the show drew crowds of people, none of whom were disappointed.

The same weekend Pioneer Days will be the big attraction down the Cobconk way.

The festival will take place on Sunday, August 3 as well as Saturday, August 2. On Saturday there will be a horse parade at one o'clock and a horse pull at two o'clock. On Sunday a Sports Day has been declared, although the donkey baseball game has been planned for Saturday night. This weekend is certainly going to be an active one for those in the area.

Guilford News

Come all you West Guilford runners and racers. The Heineken Yard is to be run on August 2 from Onandaga to the Rockcliffe at 4:30. There are prizes and trophies for three divisions - masters, open and junior. The funds from the $5 entry fee go to support AMICI, the children's summer camps throughout Ontario.

Congratulations to David and Janet Bain on the arrival of their second daughter,

Jessica Lindsay. We look forward to seeing this new pride and joy at the earliest opportunity.

Holly and Sylvia Sisson's daughter, Juanita and son Matthew are home for a holiday from Westaskiwin, Alberta.

The Scottish country dancers were part of the Stanhope Fun Day. We are at various levels of advancement, including several beginners. If you would care to join us at practice, we are upstairs at the Legion every Monday evening this summer.

On Sunday, August 4 Jock Mavor and the Glad Tidings Gospel Group from Wexford Presbyterian Church in Scarborough will lead a hymn-singing in the Christian Education Building of Zion United Church, Carnarvon. This service is in lieu of the hymn-singing at Twelve Mile Lake Church. It begins at 7 p.m. and will be followed by refreshments and fellowship.

Bill and Trudy Portengen of Maple Lake are celebrating their 30th anniversary on July 29.

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

We are sorry to report that Christian Madill is still a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough. She is suffering from the results of breaking her hip and from ulcers on her leg. We hope for better news soon.

Don Reil, with his son, John, of Melbourne, spent a week's holiday with his parents, Vera and Walter Reil.

Parents and grandparents of Scott Hunter drove to Kingston last Monday to visit Scott, who is taking a bandman's course at the Royal Military College there.

They also enjoyed a tour of the R.M.C., the museum, and Fort Frederick, where they witnessed the drill and battle tactics of the military tattoo there.

Mary Maxwell and her son, Gerry, of Marmora, and an older son, Bob, of Vancouver, visited with Vivian and Tommy Dovell last week.

Some 16 bridge players met at the school in Gooderham last Tuesday evening. The player with the highest score was Tony Dymott, while your reporter came second, thanks to good cards and good partners!

The first meeting of the "Glamorgan Ski Shufflers", a cross-country skiing club, was held last Tuesday evening in the community centre. A tentative committee to help promote cross-country skiing in and out of the township was formed.

The club is looking for new members who would like to join in this healthful sport.

It is open to all year-round and seasonal residents of all ages. As a club member you can enjoy access to special "out" events, as well as learning the skills and safety rules of this activity.

Mrs. Lulu Dovell, 91 years young, had the misfortune to slip and fall, resulting in a broken wrist. This will slow up her needlework but we hope she will soon be able to use her hand quite freely again.

Clifford and Priscilla Mintz have just returned from Ni-

pigon, where they visited their daughter, Donna, and her husband, Doug Simmons. They also were present for the wedding at Red Rock of their granddaughter, Janice, to George Sutton.

Other guests from this area were: Elgin and Yvonne MacDuff; Wayne and Judy Stoughton; Murray and Wendy Hunter; Bob and Carol Young; Gordon Taylor and Richard Matthew.

The Nipigon "sunset country" is famous for its fishing. Priscilla, an ardent angler, thoroughly enjoyed the speckled trout caught there by some of the guests.

Congratulations go to our Gooderham men's ball team. Last Sunday they came up with a win when they met Snowdon. This four-pointer was a good close game as the score, 8-7, indicates. This makes eight consecutive undefeated games for our team, quite a record.

Later that day they went to Wilberforce for the "Country Good Times" celebration where they took part in the tournament, winning against the Wilberforce Volunteer Firemen. They then had to play for the A championship, another close game, which they won 1-0. Bill Trivedi received the most valuable player award. They provide an enjoyable afternoon each Sunday and deserve our support.

After suffering from severe burns received in an accident over two weeks ago, Glen Graham died last Thursday morning in the Wellesley Hospital, Toronto. He was in his 56th year.

Glen was born, grew up and attended school in the Bear Lake area. Always a great worker, he, with his brother, Mossom, and his sons, had formed a logging and trucking business, known as Glen-Moss Enterprises Limited.

For some years he served Glamorgan Township as road superintendent and also as a member of the township council. Living in this area all his life, he as well known and highly respected.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, Goldie; four sons - Donald, Arnold, Peter and Michael; four grandchildren; his brother, Mossom and three sisters - Dorothy, Ruth and Mary.

Funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon at the United Church. Interment took place at the Glamorgan cemetery.

The large number of those who came to pay their respects testified to the esteem in which he was held.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

This display of arts and crafts in the Stanhope municipal garage was one of the highlights of the township's annual fun day on Saturday. The event attracted scores of families to the grounds around the Stanhope Firefighters Hall, and included a beef barbecue, as well as games and competitions.

Dance proceeds go to tornado fund

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things in which smiles and kindness and small obligations, given habitually, are what win and preserve the heart and secure comfort.

A recent visitor to the village was Caroline Fisher of Niagara Falls, widow of the late Dr. Sam Fisher. The Fishers have been coming to the area since the early thirties and occupied a summer home on Paint Lake for many years. They were well known in the vicinity and have many friends here.

The community centre building fund committee are holding a bake sale and flea market on Saturday, August 3, beginning at 10 a.m. The bake sale will be in the community centre and the flea market across the street at the fire hall. All proceeds go to the building fund. This is a community effort and everyone is asked for donations of baking and donations to the flea market. If we want to see the temperature rise on the thermometer we have to contribute to the efforts to raise funds.

The Dorset Lions Club are planning a dance for Saturday, August 3 at 9 p.m. at the Dorset Community Centre. Music will be provided by disc jockey Robert McLaughlin. The proceeds from the dance are going to help the Central Ontario Tornado Disaster Fund. Let's have a good attendance for a good cause and a fun evening.

Welcome visitors at my home last week were Mrs. Edith Roberts Bottomly, her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wall and her grandson, David Wall. The family live in the Toronto area and have a cottage in the Gravenhurst area. Mrs. Bottomly was one time a resident of Dorset when her parents, the Roberts, owned and operated

Kinmount Korner

On Sunday, July 21, from 1:00 p.m. to approximately 6 p.m., our "Coby" and area Navy League Cadets, three of the officers, vice president Ivan Luff, along with some family members, were joined with some 25 or 30 cadets and officers of the N.L.C.C. Shomley Barrie Corps in an enjoyable day. A giant barbecue, baseball, swimming and other sports were held. A big thank you to Larry Baldwin who gave the use of his ranch land at Head Lake for the day and to a number of the family members who dug right in with helping hands. It was appreciated!

Congratulations and happy years ahead are wished for the new Mr. and Mrs. Stata who were married Saturday, July 20.

Some 170 guests were served a salad supper by the A.C.W. of St. James Anglican Church at the Kinmount Community Hall on Saturday, July 20. I've told it was a huge success and people were asking when the ladies would be having their next dinner. The next time will be the annual turkey dinner so watch for signs and this column for dates. Thanks to all who helped with the salad supper.

The Haliburton Lions Club present their "August Shenanigans" on Sunday, August 4 beginning at 10:00 a.m. It sounds like a terrific day with lucky draws, beer garden and barbecue, a timed canoe rally and a thousand dollar tagged fish contest (that would make some kind of fish story). A registration fee of $3 per person to enter the canoe rally and $5 per person to get in on the fish contest and registration forms are now available at Kennedy Surplus, Driftwood Restaurant and Bennett Motors. Watch the Haliburton Echo for further details. All the events will be taking place at the museum. Come out with your friends and enjoy a fun day.

The next Kinmount Civic Action Committee Flea Market will be held at the Kinmount Railway Station on August 3 beginning at 10 a.m. to about 4 p.m. If you wish to participate you can rent a space for $5 if you have your own table or $8 if you'd like to have the space plus a table. For further information you may call Marg Hockley at 488-2926.

parlour with possible future extensions. Welcome to our town, Kim and Martin, and may have many happy, prosperous years ahead.

Marion MacDonald, Bill Huges, Mary Pyke, to name a few, were on the ailing list lately. I hope you'll be much better soon.

I was pleased to receive a phone call from Cindy Hill, our former neighbour, this past week. She and her husband Jim, along with young sons Adam and John are now living outside Minden.

May Campbell, who has been visiting us in Kinmount and her sister in Toronto, left last week for her Florida home. May says she will be back. Her health hasn't been the best of late and May thought she'd be better off at home.

Well folks, this old girl turned in the crutches last week and I am now getting around with the help of a cane.

Kawartha Summer Theatre Young Company presents for children young and not so young, "Twice Six Plus One" on Friday, August 9 at 3 p.m. at the Kinmount Community Centre, sponsored by the Victoria County Public Library. Get a group together and come out and enjoy the fun and it's all free.

Why not join your public library today? We have a very nice one right here in Kinmount and our librarian is Ruth Schultz.

Sympathy is extended to Goldie, all family and friends of A. Glenn Graham, who died in Toronto on Thursday, July 25 in this 56th year. Interment was at Gooderham

Cemetery.

The dedication of the Norland Cenotaph was held Sunday, July 28. Legion members from Cobocok, Fenelon Falls, Kinmount and Haliburton followed up by officers and cadets of the Navy League were piped in parade to the beautiful little park by the Gull River in Norland. Rotha Bryant, who is secretary-treasurer of the Norland Horticultural Society, acted as host spokesperson and did her usual wonderful job.

The large crowd who gathered to be part of this service joined in singing to the accompaniment of the Fenelon Falls Salvation Army Band. This was followed by a scripture reading by Reverend Arthur Bartlett. Bill Scott M.P., John Eakins M.P.P., Dave Graham, Reeve of Laxton, Digby, Longford, Clayton Cameron representing Somerville Township; Major Glynne Lewis, Deputy Reeve of Lutterworth Township and Mel Robertson, Zone Commander from Haliburton, all presented thought provoking speeches. Bill Scott and John Eakins then unveiled the monument followed by the Spending some time with the Jack Barnharts were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Watson and son Andrew of Bridgenorth. Belated birthday wishes to our good neighbour, Jack Gregory, who was 80 plus years young on July 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Rick Lowes and his two brothers of Toronto were weekend guests of Mrs. Edith Russell of Halls Lake.

Mrs. Irene Minaker of Lindsay is spending a day or two with Mrs. Britty Carr.

Cadets, in the Legion auditorium. At that time Peter Krisjansen, General Manager of the Army Cadet League of Ontario, will be here to speak and to answer questions regarding the formation of Cadets at Branch 129.

Last Saturday evening the large crowd in the Club Room enjoyed the music of the Earl Wilfong Trio from Peterborough. Next Saturday will see the return of the ever popular Ed and Billy Picard.

Don't forget the Zone F4 Drumhead Service in Haliburton on Sunday, August 11. All regular and associate members are requested to be in full Legion dress for the parade on this day.

The District Drumhead Service will be held in Campbellford on September 29.

It is always difficult to say a final farewell to a friend. We were all saddened at the passing of Owen "Boney" Morrison. Boney was a valued friend, worker and supporter of Branch 129. Our sympathies and prayers go to Muriel and her family.

raising of the flag, a prayer of dedication, and the Last Post.

It was a beautiful day but before the service was finally completed, the heavens opened and the rains came. Everyone got soaked. If it could have only held off another 15 minutes.

Coffee, tea, pop and donuts were later served at Norland Town Hall where everything looked very pretty with tables decorated in

white cloths with centre-pieces of freshly cut sweet peas, baby's breath, phlox
kers who took time from their busy schedules to appear on this prestigious day, to Rotha Bryant and Helen Graham who worked so hard in getting things together for the occasion, cleaning the hall, getting luncheon out to everyone, cleaning up later, and purple bells. Many thanks to the Horticultural members of Norland who made this beautiful cenotaph and brand new flag pole possible.

setting out chairs - all the little things no one ever seems to give thanks for.

If I have missed anyone in this write up I apologize but let me know. For all your hard work girls and I mustn't forget Vernon LeCraw and Roy Bryant, thank you. You did yourselves well and in my humble estimation, Norland now has a memorial to its war dead second to none.

Stay well, read the Echo and call me at 488-2353.
